

THE COLEMAN JOURNAL

PUBLISHED IN THE PREMIER COAL MINING CENTRE OF THE CROW'S NEST PASS.

The Most Effective Advertising Medium for reaching the People of Town and District. The Journal goes into the Homes.

Vol. 11 No. 37

Coleman, Alberta, Thursday, August 18, 1932

$2 per year, single copy 5c

Michel Headed Football League of Crows Nest Towns--Snappy Series

Coleman Takes Second Place in Six-Team League--Provided Good Keen Schedule

Football came back into its own in the Pais this summer, and the inter-town matches were followed with keen interest. A particularly keen game was that played between Michel and Coleman on Aug. 23, when Michel had a two-goal lead in the second half on a penalty and one earned goal. It looked almost hopeless for Coleman, when a penalty kick allowed them to score, and only a few seconds before the referee's whistle blew for time, Jimmy Anderson made a rush which almost carried him into Michel's goal, and scored, tying the game 2-2.

The standing of the league records the following: Michel, champions; Coleman second; Fernie third; Hillcrest fourth; Coal Creek fifth; Corbin sixth.

Coleman played Hillcrest on August 13, this being the semi-final in the Mutt Cup series.

On August 20 Drumheller all star football team, which has been on tour in Eastern Canada, will play against the pick of the Pais. Jimmy Anderson will represent Coleman team, and the players will be drawn from all Pais football teams, including the British Columbian teams.

Coleman Homing Society

Result of race from Lethbridge to Coleman--distance 76 miles. Birds liberated at 7 a.m. and arrived at 9:20 a.m.

	Velocity yds. per min.
1st, A. Cornil	957.1
2nd, Wm. Pryde	939.6
3rd, J. Anderson	939.3
4th, Wm. Roughhead	927.8
5th, Wm. Harrison	924
6th, Chas. Makin	908.2
7th, A. Dewar	741.8
1st. Prize--Razor and blades, donated by Coleman Hardware.
2nd. Prize--One Tie, donated by Chas. Nickolas.

Result of race from Taber to Coleman--distance 106 miles. Birds liberated at 8:45 a.m. and arrived at 12:41 p.m.

	Velocity yds. per min.
1st, Wm. Roughhead (2 birds)	807.7
2nd, J. Anderson	800
3rd, Wm. Roughhead	786.3
4th, Wm. Harrison	770
5th, Chas. Makin	763.6
6th, A. Dewar	763.5
7th, A. Cornil	757.3
8th, Wm. Pryde	725.5
1st. Prize--Shaving Set, donated by H. C. McBurney.
2nd. Prize--4lb. sack Flour, donated by Coleman Cash Grocery.

ROD AND GUN CLUB

On August 7 the Rod and Gun Club held its third competition of the season, in the vicinity of the Heaton ranch, North Fork. Eric Gudmundson secured the biggest basket with 15 nice trout; O. Smith the second, and E. W. Beart won the biggest trout prize, with a 13 lb. trout. Uno Gudmundson caught the biggest grayling. About 25 members competed.

Hot summer days make people lazy, mentally and physically. As the day's work must be done, and self-will must prevail to enable business to be carried on. All too many seize the excuse to loaf because of the heat. It is the prefalling tendency. Yet, if one wishes to keep on an even keel and pay his way, he must put forth the effort each day to overcome the temptation to put off till tomorrow that which should be done today.

Marie and Virginia Olson returned last evening to Calgary, after visiting for three weeks with Mr. and Mrs. Nielsen and family.

Important Notice Rebate on Taxes

Town of Coleman

7 per cent. rebate on current taxes for 1932 will be allowed on till Monday, August 29, at 4 p.m. The penalty for non-payment which should have been added on July 1, will not be charged till Sept. 15. Pay your taxes and save the discount and the penalty.

British Statesmen Relax

The British delegation to the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa, headed by Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the Council and former Prime Minister of Great Britain, despite its heavy labors during the five-day voyage to Canada on the Canadian Pacific liner "Empress of Britain" had its lighter moments. The scenes above show members of the delegation visiting the Navigating Bridge of the big white flag ship, and Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Dominion Secretary, enjoining a game of quoits. Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin autographs a picture of the "Empress of Britain" for Captain Lett, her commander; looking on is Geoffrey Lloyd, M.P., a brilliant younger member of the House, who is the Parliamentary Private Secretary. Lower picture shows: Rt. Hon. Sir Philip Cunliffe-Lister, Lord Hallahan, and Sir John Gilmour, receiving a short lesson in navigation from Capt. R. O. Lett. While the delegates were on the bridge a small steamer showed a message of welcome, and above is seen the "Empress of Britain's" signal "Thank you."

SEE WHISKERS!

Canadians cannot be said to have the toughest beards in the world and the latest for such with facial adornments might just as readily go to Englishmen, Australians and Irishmen, one exclude certain primitive specimens to be found in various parts of the world, according to P. E. "Red" Fasse, veteran tonsorial artist of the Chateau Laurier Hotel at Ottawa, and he ought to know since his artistry at this hotel de luxe brings him face to face with many of the world's celebrities and others who come from all parts of the civilized world. Just off on the right foot for many of the statesmen who are attending the Imperial Economic Conference, and so it is just one famous face after another for him. "The 'honor' for the toughest beard of his tonsorial career goes to one of the English delegates, 'Red' declares.

Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Devine's holiday camp at Lee Lake was the rendezvous for 25 visitors from town on Sunday, who enjoyed the attractions of the beauty spot on Mrs. Parker's ranch. Those present included Mrs. J. A. McLeod and Nora, Vivian, Sidney and Mabel; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McDonald; Sam; Mr. and Mrs. Mel Rhyms and Miss Evelyn Bennett, of Blairmore; Miss Kathryn Wilson, of Fernie; Mrs. R. McDonald; Hector McDonald; Mrs. Barnes, Mr. R. F. Barnes, Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Halliwell, Wilma and Audrey.

On the rounds this week, talk veered around to why it is that some stores attract and others fail to get a fair share of business. Location may be partly to blame. Failure to keep the front inviting, lack of an interesting window display, or not changed sufficiently often, no advertising, poor personality of clerks or salespeople, all tend to retard business and keep people away.

On the other hand, a store with a live appearance, cleaned every day, free from unpleasant odors, bright windows with a well-lighted interior, and clerks who are ready to serve you as soon as you enter, price tickets on goods and advertising in the local newspaper--it is stores of this type which will always win over their competitors.

MRS. W. FINLAY IN UNITED CHURCH PULPIT NEXT SUNDAY

At 11 a.m. on Sunday, August 20th the guest-preacher will be Mrs. Mary A. Finlay, who is the matron of Beulah Rescue Home, Edmonton. Mrs. Finlay has done wonderful work in the interest of girls in this province, and is a preacher with a minimum charge of 35c. Big returns for little outlay.

Buy typewriter ribbons and copying paper at The Journal office. Blank counter check books or printed to your order, may also be obtained.

Wide-Awake Merchants

Are not sitting around bemoaning hard times and poor business. They are using their brains in devising ways and means to increase business. Above all,

THEY ADVERTISE

for in so doing they demonstrate their faith in their business and ability to serve the public.

Patronize those stores which advertise steadily in The Journal and you'll always find that you get real values on quality goods.

Buy Advertised Goods--Refuse Substitutes

COLEMAN HOTEL TO CHANGE OWNERSHIP

On August 31 the transfer of the Coleman Hotel from A. E. Guerdard to George Dickson and Joe Lipowski will be made. Mr. Guerdard took over the hotel in January of 1929, and during the residence here of himself and his wife, they have taken an active interest in community affairs. Mrs. Guerdard being particularly active in support of the Roman Catholic church, both giving considerable time and effort in its behalf. They will live in Calgary, where Mrs. Guerdard has been living for the past few months.

The new proprietors are well known locally. Mr. Dickson has resided here for twelve years, and Mr. Lipowski for seven years. Mr. L. Morris, of Calgary, is arranging the details of the transfer of the hotel and contents.

This is the pioneer hotel in Coleman, and considerable money has been spent in improvements during Mr. Guerdard's occupancy.

IMPROVEMENTS AT PALACE THEATRE PLEASE PATRONS

Improved sound equipment, equal to that of the city theatres, and economical treatment of the interior, combined with decorating of the exterior and interior, has given greatly added attraction to the Palace, which was re-opened on Aug. 6 after being closed for a brief period for alterations. Re-decoration of sound has been eliminated by insulating the walls and all surfaces tending to distort film sound and the general appearance is very pleasing.

The sound equipment was installed under supervision of J. W. Dowseley of Calgary, and Greg Jamieson, widely experienced expert in theatre decoration, was in charge of the renovating of the theatre. These improvements will bring the Palace fully up to the best service obtainable.

HOSPITAL BOARD

The recently appointed board consists of: W. Lee, chairman; J. Glen, secretary; J. Lonsbury, J. Poitton, T. Goulding, W. Fraser, A. Harich.

On Aug. 10, for the first time in many years, the hospital was without a patient.

The staff is as follows: Mrs. Woods, Miss Mac Moors, Miss Stewart, Miss Maberley and Miss Wray were relieving during July and August.

On the evening of August 10 Robert Lloyd was admitted to hospital, having been injured in a McGillivray mine. He was caught between a mine car and the horse drawing same, receiving some bone bruises on the lower part of the body. Fortunately no bones were broken.

Local News

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Brown are spending two weeks' holidays with relatives in Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. Kinnear of Calgary have been visiting Mr. and Mrs. A. Beveridge during the past two weeks.

"Good-bye, Boys," is the title of a song a well-known bachelor is reported to have sung at a farewell party on the eve of his marriage.

Mrs. O. E. S. Whitese is spending part of the summer visiting her old home at Sarnia, Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. George Kellock and family have been spending a holiday at Vancouver.

W. Anderson is employed in Coleman Motors as mechanic with Mr. Regner, proprietor, and repair work will be given expert and prompt attention.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Fraser and family, Mr. and Mrs. John Brennan and family, spent Sunday at North Fork, where they had a very enjoyable picnic, with a little fishing to pass the day.

Walter Bobbitt's store is to be improved by the installation of an up-to-date display refrigerator, for the sale of fresh and smoked meats. This store has served the people of West Coleman for many years, and the enterprise of the proprietor will doubtless be appreciated by his customers.

Mr. T. Badham, for many years resident in Coleman, but for the past few years of Midlandvale, called at The Journal office last week and is looking hale and hearty. He is a reader of this paper, and reads with interest the local items. He met many old friends and acquaintances during his week's stay here, and returned by car to Drumheller.

Frank Graham and McKeen Hunter spent the week-end in Calgary, where Mr. Graham was duly initiated into the "Sourdough" Pioneers' Association of Alaska and Yukon. He was decorated with a badge of the order, which he proudly displays in the bar shop. Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Machin accompanied him back to Calgary, after visiting here.

The meat department of Ledieu's store has installed a refrigerator show case which greatly facilitates the shopping problems for customers, besides giving adequate display of meats in attractive form. Henry Zak, of Economy Meat Market, also recently installed the latest type of refrigerator display silent salesman, and these improved services are appreciated by customers.

Magrath Tennis Players Coming This Week-End--Champion Will Play

Exhibition Games Will Attract Tennis Enthusiasts from Pais Towns

Mr. and Mrs. L. Lindoe were at Magrath over the week-end playing in some tennis matches, and bringing back word that Magrath players will be here over the week-end, including the brilliant player, Bill Stratford, who won the Southern Alberta open singles championship, and also the singles championship of Salt Lake City. Many will avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing him in action here on Sunday, when his play against local star players.

IRONMONGER-PATTERSON WEDDING

Miss Grace Patterson, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Patterson of Coleman, was married to Mr. John Ironmonger, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Ironmonger, of Hillcrest, on August 1st, at 415 Bellevue, by Rev. Mr. Woods officiating. The bride and groom were attended by Miss Esther Ironmonger and Mr. Leonard Lewis. Wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, at which the immediate relatives and close friends of the family were present. Following the wedding breakfast they left for a honeymoon trip to Calgary.

The bride was assistant in Coleman post office for three years prior to her marriage, and was very popular among a large circle of acquaintances, who will join in wishing the newly married couple joy and prosperity. They will reside in Hillcrest.

GUARDAR-GREENHALGH WEDDING

Fred Watson Guerdard, only son of Mr. A. E. Guerdard, and Emily, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Greenhalgh, were married at the United Church manse on Friday evening, Aug. 12, the Rev. A. E. Larke officiating.

The best man was Mr. R. Shoen, and the bridesmaid was Miss Patterson. The parents of the bride, and immediate friends of the contracting parties were present.

Following the signing of the register, the bride party went to the home of the bride's parents, where the wedding supper was served. The young people are well known in Coleman, and have been attending high school here, and were very popular on the office staff of McGillivray Creek Coal & Coke Co. Ltd. They received the congratulations of a wide circle of friends.

THE ANNUAL FISHING PARTY

For several years J. Houghton has organized a party of men who "go fishing" on the west-end branch of the Livingston river, a delightful spot about sixty miles north of Coleman. They travel to the settle of the stream by automobile, and consequently find the fishing good. A week's stay is made, where they forget they are men and become boys again. This year's party included J. Houghton, A. M. Morrison, Sidney Short, C. J. Devine, Maurice MacLeod, G. Greagan, Henry Tierghien and Chas. Chardom. Interviewed by The Journal, all agreed that it was a splendid holiday, and "would not have missed it for the world."

NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING MOST EFFECTIVE

For store advertising, which is primarily aimed to interest prospect shoppers, and to increase sales, no form of advertising is as effective as the local newspaper. An example of this is seen in the lavish use of newspaper space by nationally known department stores and mail-order houses. Regular use of advertising by even the smallest business will act as a very beneficial tonic. Preparing a weekly advertisement will awaken interest in the merchant; it will certainly create interest in the people who read the advertisement, called at the store, and the people whose patronage is necessary if local stores are to succeed. The use of newspaper advertising is as necessary as the show window display.

Russell Ferguson was strolling on the railway track with his two children, when the westbound passenger train came thundering along. The older dog, being deaf, did not hear it till it was but a few feet distant. Instead of jumping from between the rails, it started ahead of the train and was scared jack rabbit caught in the glare of auto lights. The train passed over it, and Mr. Ferguson gave up hope of seeing the dog except as a mangled mass. To his joy and surprise, it was lying close to one rail, stunned, and minus the tip of one ear, which had been clipped off. After kindly home treatment, the dog recovered.

Counter Check Books may now be obtained through The Journal office, quality books at lowest current prices. Keep this in mind when you are asked for orders by out-of-town businessmen, and place your order today.

The 40th Anniversary of "SALADA" TEA

For 40 years SALADA has given the finest quality in tea. Present prices are the lowest in 15 years.

Lessons Of The Depression

A cabinet minister in one of the prairie provinces has expressed the view that the present business depression in this country is "a blessing in disguise" because it is teaching people many lessons which it is in their own interests and in the interests of the country at large they should learn.

While one can agree that many people are learning some rather hard lessons these days, taught in the school of bitter experience, we are hardly prepared to go so far as to regard such experiences as "blessings" even in a disguised form. The men and women out of work in cities and towns, and the farmers who have suffered complete crop failure year after year, and who have not been able to market such meagre crops as they may have succeeded in raising at a price above the cost of production, and both of which groups have, of necessity, been forced to subsist on Government and Municipal relief, and go deeper into debt for that relief, fall to see where the "blessings" come in.

But it cannot be denied that some valuable lessons are being learned, hard and bitter though the experience of learning those lessons may be. And if these lessons are thoroughly learned, taught to heart and not forgotten when the difficult days of the present have passed, then the trials and hardships of the present will not be all lost; there will be some profit in future years.

Quite a few people, for example, have learned to appreciate the value of having a little something in reserve, something laid by for a rainy day, as the old adage puts it, or, perhaps, on the prairies we could more appropriately say, for a dry year. The mistake of spending up to the last dollar of one's income in years when they had incomes has been impressed upon thousands of people, and it is probably safe to predict that, when once again these people are in receipt of incomes in excess of their actual living requirements, they will lay something aside by small instalments from their weekly wages or salaries in preparation for the future.

Governments, too, have probably had the lesson enforced upon them that they likewise must accumulate reserves in years of prosperity to tide themselves and their people through the lean years, rather than, as in the past, embark on large spending programmes when revenues are large and easy to collect. Public debts should be reduced in good years, because they are bound to rise in bad years. When times are generally prosperous, Governments can afford to hold off large programmes of public works and construction, and proceed with them when general employment declines and it is necessary to provide work.

Governments and large industrial employers of labor, it is to be hoped, have also learned to appreciate the fact that they have an obligation towards all the people on the one hand and their own employees on the other, and that the profits accruing to industry in good years must not, in the future, be all distributed in dividends to shareholders, or held in reserve to pay dividends when business drops off, but that an adequate percentage of those profits must be set aside in some form of unemployment insurance in order to provide protection for the workingman who assisted to create those profits. In future labor in industry must be protected just as effectively as the shareholders in industry. Many large concerns realize this, and even welcome it, but it is the duty of Governments to see that it is universally adopted.

Another lesson that is being learned is the unwisdom of putting all one's eggs in one basket, to quote another old proverb. In good times many business men have re-invested all their profits in expanding their businesses far beyond the needs of normal years. They have acted as if "boom" conditions would always prevail, with the result that when business declined they had plants on their hands, with heavy overhead expenses, which it was impossible to carry under decreased business conditions. The same thing can be said of many farmers. When crops were good and prices high, they bought more and yet more land, more machinery, more everything, frequently borrowing large sums to enable them to do these things. Then with smaller crops and lower prices they found they could not make money, could not pay their debts, while if they had held some of their former profits in reserve instead of tying them all up in so-called fixed assets, which often turned out to be fixed liabilities, they could have carried on without much worry.

Lack of ready money in the depression has taught many of us how to really economize, how many things we can do for ourselves if we will; how many things we actually do not need which we formerly thought we must have. A list of such things, each perhaps small in itself, could be given that would fill this newspaper column. And we are actually better off for the doing of things for ourselves instead of having somebody do them for us.

Some readers may think we are advocating a lower standard of living. Not at all. The standard of living in this country should mount steadily higher and higher. The difficulty is that we have confused what is essential to a high standard of living and what is not. Some things are essential to such a standard, but many things we have regarded as essential are not; rather they are pure luxuries, and these we should do without until we are well able to afford them. They should never be purchased until some reserve has first been accumulated.

Less mushroom growth; less waste and extravagance than in the past; continued economy in the matter of non-essentials such as we have been forced to practice recently; the building up of some reserve—these are requirements for the future; they constitute some of the lessons of the depression.

Might Try Again

The following correction appeared in a small town paper: "Our paper carried the notice last week that Mr. John Doe is a defective in the police force. This was a typographical error. Mr. Doe is really a detective in the police force!"

Summer Complaint

"I have found Baby's Own Tablets the best of all children's remedies for Summer Complaint, Colic, Teething and Constipation," writes Mrs. Walker, Thompson, Ont. Certificate of SAFETY in each 25c package. More than 1,250,000 packages sold in 1931.

Dr. Williams' BABY'S OWN TABLETS

An Interesting Document

Old Trading House Rules For Women
In 1643

A document recently brought to Winnipeg, Manitoba, from one of the northern trading posts of the Hudson's Bay Company, dated back to 1643, shows the following provisions relating to women.

Marriages—Throughout the country, in the absence of clergymen, chief factors only shall solemnize marriages, and no person shall be permitted to take a wife at any establishment without the sanction of the gentleman superintending the district.

Employment for the women and children—in the course of the week, due attention shall be bestowed to furnish the women and children with such regular and useful occupation as is suited to their age and capacities, and best calculated to suppress vicious and promote virtuous habits.

Education—As a preparation to education, the women and children at the several posts in the country shall be addressed and habituated to converse in the language (whether French or English) of the father of the family, and that he be encouraged to devote a portion of his leisure time to their instruction as far as his own knowledge and ability will permit.

Contribution To Science

Report New Scientific Discovery
Made By Curie Family At Paris

Mme Marie Curie's family has made a new contribution to science. The discovery of a ray stopped more easily by common paraffin than by lead is reported in Nature, British journal of pure science.

Irene Curie, daughter of the famous woman scientist, and F. Joliot, the daughter's husband, report the discovery and say this ray is probably a beam of neutrons, most unusually tiny things hitherto known as "ultimate particles" of matter.

The discovery offers light on the possible nature of neutrons.

Persian Balm is a true elixir of youth. Refreshes and rejuvenates. Adds a youthful charm to the complexion. Softens and beautifies the skin. Makes hands flawlessly white. Indispensable to the woman who appreciates subtle distinction. Delightful to use. Delicately fragrant. Sothes dry and irritated skin. Corrects and preserves. A flawless toilet requisite for every discerning woman. A true aid to beauty.

Canadian Salmon

Canada Leads In Canned Salmon Imports Of Great Britain

Canada in the first six months of 1932 has definitely maintained the leadership in the canned salmon industry of Great Britain, which she captured from the United States a year ago. British trade figures show that in the first six months of 1930, the United States supplied 10,057,264 of the total import of 22,156,032 pounds, and Canada was second with 4,600,200. In 1931 Canada assumed first place with 9,560,544 pounds, and United States was second with 7,140,896. This year Canada sent $891,808 and United States 3,977,264.

The Last Asthma Attack may really be the last one if prompt measures are taken. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy will safeguard you. It will penetrate to the smallest bronchial passages and bring about a healthy condition. It always relieves and its continued use often has a permanent effect. Why not get this long-remembered remedy today and commence its use? Inhaled as smoke or vapor it is equally effective.

Hatching Wild Ducks

Nature is being assisted in keeping up the supply of wild ducks for the sportsmen of Manitoba. Eight thousand young wild ducks have been hatched in incubators and are now learning to swim in the waters of Lake Winnipeg. Eggs were gathered near the lake and the young birds, although hatched by artificial means, present a healthy appearance. The experiment has been so successful that it is proposed to hatch 16,000 in this way next year.

The Same Name

A woman entered a meat store with her small daughter. Seeing some tripe in the refrigerating case, the little one asked what it was.

"Tripe, dear," replied her mother. "That's funny," said the child. "Daddy says that's what we get over the radio."

The woman who marries a man because she is sorry for him is apt to be sorry for herself later on.

A pinch of grease will keep starch from sticking.

The glow of phosphorus is due to slow oxidation.

Stop and Think!

It pays to "ROLL YOUR OWN" with

TURRET FINE CUT Cigarette Tobacco

It pays in pleasure—and pays in actual cash! For Turret Fine Cut is fragrant, mellow Virginia tobacco, that rolls into thoroughly satisfying cigarettes. You can roll at least 50 cigarettes with a 20c package.

FREE Chantecler cigarette papers with every package.

15c and 20c packages—also in 1/2 lb. vacuum tins

End Of Reparations

Conference At Lausanne Marked a Great Step Forward

To speak of the Lausanne Conference as if it were a European conspiracy against the United States is totally wrong. Lausanne marked a great step forward. It showed the European nations have returned to sanity, after all the madness of war and post-war nationalism. Because the Lausanne settlement will sooner or later bring the United States to a reconsideration of war debts, that inevitable result is not brought about by the desires of the Lausanne negotiators but only by their mutual recognition of their helplessness in the face of existing conditions. —Winnipeg Tribune.

Miller's Worm Powders, being in demand everywhere, can be got at any chemist's or drug shop, at very small cost. They are a reliable remedy for worm troubles and can be fully relied upon to expel worms from the system and abate the sufferings that worms cause. There are many mothers that rejoice that they found available so effective a remedy for the relief of their children.

Practically His Own Doctor

Prince Of Wales Has Profited By Much Advice

The Prince of Wales has become his own doctor—to a certain extent—according to his own testimony before the British Medical Association. "I have had so much advice," he told the learned physicians, "and have also learned many other ways how to keep myself fit—that I have to some extent become my own doctor. The doctor," he added, "is certainly our first friend in life and our last."

The Japanese government is considering spending $10,000,000 in buying more private railways.

Thousands of MOTHERS ARE GRATEFUL

"I wish I had known about this when I raised my first baby," so many mothers tell us. "Fretful, crying babies make mothers grow old. Our new Baby Welfare book tells how to keep your baby laughing and well—a joy rather than a care. Write today and it will be mailed to you free."

The Book Co. Limited, 115 George St., Toronto, Ont. Confidently Please send me free copy of booklet entitled "Baby Welfare."

Send Name Address to The Book Co. Limited, 115 George St., Toronto, Ont. Eagle Brand MILK

Quite At Home In Air

New York Girl Flies Regularly To Southern Plantation

Flying over five countries while commuting between New York and Puerto Rico, Miss Clara Livingston at the controls of her own plane makes a solo flight of some 2,000 miles several times a year as casually as most women drive their automobiles to town. Having inherited a plantation in Puerto Rico, Miss Livingston, whose home is in Jamestown, N.Y., finds air transportation the most efficient aid in helping her attend to her business and widely separated interests. She is one of the few women who fly in Latin America. Her arrival at Miami brings out as many government officials as would a steamship, as she must be cleared by the customs officers, the health officer, the immigration officer, and the plant board.

New Question Raised

U.S. Customs Asked To Refund Duty Charged On Goods Made At Sea

The United States Supreme Court was asked to decide whether customs duties can legally be imposed on articles produced on the high seas.

The question was raised by the Procter and Gamble Manufacturing Company of Cincinnati on the importation of whale oil used in the manufacture of soap.

Under protest it paid a duty of six cents a gallon on the oil, taken in the Ross Sea by Norwegian seamen under contract and brought out to recover the money.

The trial court held that ships at sea and the property in them are a part of the country to which the ship belongs and that the whale oil was taxable as coming from Norway.

It Will Prevent Ulcerated Throat.—At the first symptoms of sore throat, which presages ulceration and inflammation, take a spoonful of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Add a little sugar to it to make it palatable. It will allay the irritation and prevent the ulceration and swelling that are so painful. Those who were periodically subject to quincy have thus made themselves immune to attack.

Son Of Charles Dickens

Sir Henry Dickens, K.C., only surviving child of Charles Dickens, the novelist, is retiring from the position of Common Sergeant of the City of London, England, which he has held for 15 years. In this office he sits constantly as a judge at the Old Bailey. Sir Henry, who is 84, is the oldest judge still upon the bench.

Sweet and palatable, Mother Graver's Worm Exterminator is acceptable to children, and it does its work surely and promptly.

Glasgow, Scotland, is to have a new $1,400,000 hospital.

French Take To Air

Private Pilot's Licenses Show Big Increase This Year

French citizens are taking to the air for their own pleasure in greater numbers, according to the increased number of private pilot's licenses granted by the French government during the year ended March 1932, which totalled 465 as compared with 131 during the same period of last year, states a report from Assistant Trade Commissioner H. C. Schuetz, Paris, France.

He: "If we were married, darling, the hours would roll by without our noticing them."

She: "Do you mean we probably wouldn't be able to afford a clock?"

France is the principal world source of bauxite, from which aluminum is derived.

"WHY LOOK YOUR AGE?"

asks Billie Burke

"I really am 39," says this famous star. "And I don't see why any woman should look her age."

"We on the stage must keep our youthful freshness. To do this through the years means, above everything, guarding complexion beauty. For years I have used Lux Toilet Soap regularly—it keeps my skin amazingly clear and soft."

Years ago Broadway stars eagerly adopted Hollywood's favorite beauty care—Lux Toilet Soap. Actually 98% of the lovely complexions you see on the screen are cared for by this fragrant white soap that costs only 10¢!

"I'm 39"

W. N. U. 1954

Wheat Soars To New Price Levels On Grain Exchange

Winnipeg, Man.—Chicago price levels lead wheat to further advances in the grain exchange here during the short weekend session last Saturday, August 6, and aided by encouragement from Liverpool cables, prices here closed nearly two cents higher in some futures.

October was up 1½¢ at 61, December closed at 62½¢ up 1½¢, and May finished 1½¢ higher at 66 ½¢.

Export business did not seem to figure to any extent in the pit trade and buyer orders came chiefly from locals and outside interests. Broomhall reported a much better tone in trading at Liverpool and no pressure of supplies from any source.

Spreads on active grades of cash wheat were fractionally better than the previous closing differences, but offerings were rather light and the volume of business done was small. Cash sales in coarse grains were also small, with pit trade pretty much routine in character.

Toronto, Ont.—Stocks were bulled high, wide and handsome in the best Saturday's rally of the year on the Toronto stock exchange Saturday, August 6. New highs were established in the oil and implement group and the advance gained momentum as the session progressed. Volume was heavy and the list of active stocks again broadened out, to take in other securities.

New York.—A stampede of buying threw bears into a panic in Saturday's stock market and brought one of the most spectacular upsurges of prices in months.

Prices of many prominent issues surged up to 12 points to the best levels since March. There were numerous recessions of about one to four in the final dealings. However, sales reached the impressive total for a two-hour session of about 2,600,000 shares.

Buying poured into the market from many cities at home and abroad, attracted by the general buoyance of sentiment.

At the top of the recovery, the market had gained some 60 per cent. of March-June loss, the largest percentage recovery yet recorded after any of the several successive phases of liquidation which started in 1929.

Some conservative banking quarters were somewhat apprehensive over the violence of the rally.

The offerings were so thin in Union Pacific and Allied Chemical, and bids so many that it was necessary to halt trading in those issues for a moment. The ticker fell in arrears of the transactions on the floor.

News developments influencing the market were not of particular importance.

Historic Home Burned

Old Landmark in Winnipeg Completely Destroyed By Fire

Winnipeg, Man.—One of Winnipeg's historic old homes, a 24-room mansion standing in four acres of tree grounds, built in the earliest days of Winnipeg's youth by the late A. F. Eden, one-time land commissioner of the Manitoba and Northwestern Railway, has been destroyed by fire.

The palatial house on Osborne Street and Assiniboine Avenue, known as the old Banfield residence, has stood vacant for some time.

Man Drops Dead

Regina, Sask.—Rising to cheer the winner in the second race at the exhibition meet Wednesday afternoon, August 3, M. Dropp, of Moose Jaw, a railway mail clerk, collapsed and was dead before medical assistance could be secured. He held tickets on the winning horse.

Fierce Riots Continue To Disturb The Peace Throughout Germany

Berlin, Germany.—The prospect of a serious break between Chancellor von Papen's Government and Adolf Hitler, National Socialist leader, over the recent bloody riots in Germany, was intimated in the Rightist Press.

This was coupled with evidence that Hitler was spreading his organization efforts into other European countries and planning a powerful Nordic European alliance.

The riot squad was called out three times as a result of political clashes

Plan Relief Measures

Call For National Registration Of Unemployed Single Men

Edmonton, Alberta.—Unanimous agreement to present a memorial to the Federal Government asking them to accept 50 per cent. of the cost of relief in the western provinces, so far as families are concerned, further to accept full responsibility for single men and to effect a national registration of these and concentrate them in suitable camps, was reached by the conference of cabinet ministers, mayors and aldermen of the four western provinces.

The memorial will be presented to the government at Ottawa by a small delegation consisting of one representative from each of the four provincial governments, and a representative from any of the 12 cities represented at the conference and who wish to send delegates.

Premier John Brownlee of Alberta, chairman of the conference, was unanimously chosen head of the delegation and was asked to arrange an appointment with Premier R. B. Bennett. It is not likely the delegation will meet Premier Bennett until conclusion of the economic parity.

Russian Grain Crop

One Third Of Crop Harvested At End Of July

London, England.—It is reported on the corn exchange today through reliable advice from Moscow, that by the end of July 36 per cent. of the Russian wheat crop had been successfully harvested, or about one-third of the 30,500,000 hectares, or 75,375,000 acres, the balance being expected to spring wheat.

A much greater proportion of the crop this year is being stocked to save shrinkage and improve grade. Last year but 19 per cent. was stacked, the balance being combine or stock threshed.

Reduce Motor Fees

Saskatchewan Lowers License For Balance Of 1932

Regina, Sask.—Though designed originally to assist farmers in harvest time, the cut in automobile license fees to be effective from August 15, will apply to all owners, city dwellers included, it was officially announced. The new price will be exactly half the present. For example, the $10 fee for a license for a well known small car will be $5.

Those getting the new price will be required to make a statutory declaration.

Ships En Route To Churchill

Montreal, Que.—Two tramp steamers are en route to the port of Churchill on Hudson Bay to load grain for Europe. The "Pennyworth" sailed from Antwerp, while the "Sicentia" left Oran, Algeria, for the Manitoba port on July 25. Grain rates for these steamers have not yet been announced. It is expected they will reach Churchill about August 15.

No Capital Expenditure

London, Ont.—No capital expenditures of any sort are to be made by the Canadian National Railways until after the report of the royal commission on transportation is presented to the government, Poy on August 16, Mayor Hayman declared he was informed by Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways.

Grain Show To Be Held

Definite Assurance Received and Work Is Going On

Regina, Sask.—The World's Grain Exhibition and Conference will be held at Regina next year. Confirmation of the unofficial report published in The Leader-Post to this effect came when officials of the organization met at the grain show building and awarded a contract for painting the building to A. W. Banks, of Regina.

In addition, R. Beesley, of the staff of the Canadian Exhibition Commissioner, St. Catharines, has arrived in the city and has already taken charge of the interior decorative work of the building. A large quantity of grasses and shrubs has arrived to be used in the interior decorative work.

Thirteen tenders were opened by the committee of the World's Grain Show in charge of the building and the contract was awarded to A. W. Banks, of this city. The work will include murex decorations for the walls of the building, ceilings, offices and so forth. The contract price was not announced at the close of the meeting.

Rich Silver Strike

Great Bear Lake District Attracting Many Prospectors

Calgary, Alberta.—Large silver deposits have been unearthed just south of Mile Lake, on the Bonanza property in the north where rich discoveries of minerals, including radium ore, is drawing thousands of prospectors.

Word of the discovery was made known recently by the Canadian Northern Mining Corporation, whose property adjoins that where the silver was located. Officers of the firm said the strike removed all doubt regarding the value of their own claims. They said it was the largest silver strike made in the area.

Transients At Calgary

Unemployed From Coast Cause Serious Situation At Footfills City

Calgary, Alberta.—Several hundred unemployed transients from British Columbia are walking Calgary Streets after journeying from the Pacific Coast province via the rodeo. From 120 to 200 men drop off nearly every train from British Columbia, resulting in a serious situation here.

A number of the transients maintain they were forced out of British Columbia by the closing down of relief camps. They declare those who are non-residents of British Columbia are told to leave the province.

"Free Fair" Was Success

Saskatoon, Sask.—Canada's first "free fair," held here has been a success, officials of Saskatoon's exhibition announced. Total attendance of 151,785 eclipsed 42,000 the previous high mark set in 1928. The financial loss, if any, will not exceed $4,000, contrasted with a loss of $20,000 for last year.

WORLD'S LARGEST TOMBSTONE AT THIEPVAL

A great pilgrimage of women who lost husbands, sons and sweethearts in the Great War gathered on August 1st at Thiepval and saw the Prince of Wales unveil the empire's gigantic memorial to 73,000 officers and men who have "no known graves."

The name of every man is carved on the walls of the memorial archway, a massive structure designed by Sir Edwin Lutyens. It completes the circle of commemorative buildings erected by the Imperial War Graves commission in honor of 1,100,000 men of the empire who made the supreme sacrifice.

"Let us advance to new conquests—to the conquest of world peace and international amity," was the challenge delivered by the Prince of Wales at the unveiling.

"It is fitting," said the prince, "that this crowning stone in the work of

STUDIES SHEEP INDUSTRY

L. E. Kindt of the Agricultural Economics Branch, Canadian Department of Agriculture, who has left for Western Canada to resume the collection of information for the completion of the economic study of range sheep industry in Southern Saskatchewan, Alberta, and British Columbia.

Call It Absurd

Mild Criticism Of British Papers On U.S. Action

London, England.—Acceptance by United States of the invitation to the forthcoming world economic conference brought editorial expressions of satisfaction in the London morning newspapers, tempered with regret that certain topics, including specific tariffs and international debts, had been ruled out.

The Express, after enumerating the excluded topics, said "this leaves prohibition, baseball and the weather." The Herald said: "A world conference that excluded all consideration of tariffs would be a complete absurdity."

Alberta Girls Drown

Mother Of One Makes Unsuccessful Attempt At Rescue

Ryley, Alberta.—Two girls were drowned while wading in a dam used by the Canadian National Railways at Holden. They were Gladys Kirkland, 14, and Betty Roberts, 15, both of Ryley, 38 miles east of Edmonton. Miss Roberts drowned when she attempted to rescue Miss Kirkland. Mrs. Roberts, mother of Betty, attempted to save both but nearly lost her life. She was rescued by an employee at the dam and was revived by pulmotor.

Wanted To Hear

Ottawa, Ont.—It isn't often the information bureau in the parliament buildings is stumped. But it was recently. And stumped properly. A secretary for one of the economic conference committees made the strangest request so far on record. He wanted an ear trumpet for an adviser to the financial and banking committee. And as far as the information bureau was concerned, he was forced to keep on wanting it.

Wheat Pool Plan Expected To Boost American Grain Prices

Port Ready For Business

Deep Sea Pier At Churchill Is Practically Finished

Churchill, Man.—While the rattle of riveting, and the humming of construction machinery continues here, the end of the deep sea pier programme is in sight.

The grain galleries which will pour a flood of grain into the deep sea ships this month are finished. Freight sheds are practically finished. There are two sidings ready for trains, which will haul incoming freight to the cities of the south. All that remains now is a bit of painting and cleaning up the construction debris.

From now until the middle of the month the workmen will move south, as their jobs are completed. There will be no spending organs in The Pas, Man., as in other years, when big gangs "went out" en masse. This year the men will dribble out in small numbers. They will not have big "stakes," as they had in the peak years. They are sober-minded this year.

The Department of Railways and Canals has a full summer's dredging programme to carry out in the harbor. The marine railway for winter ships has to be completed. There will be considerable activity during the shipping season, when incoming cargoes of mixed freight will have to be handled, to say nothing of further grain shipments, which may come from the prairies.

It is expected the season will come to a close here about October 15.

Floods Destroy Grain

Thousands Of Farmers In Central Manchuria Lose Everything

Harbin, Manchuria.—Twenty-one days of uninterrupted rains converted Central Manchuria into a vast lake and brought about a national disaster.

Tens of thousands of enormous stocks of grain and soy beans lost. Thousands of farmers and other residents have lost their homes and are flocking to the cities from the inundation.

The material damage is estimated at several hundred million Mexican dollars.

Harbin is isolated from the rest of the world by rail and the three branches of the Chinese Eastern railway are paralyzed.

Preparing Roll Of Honor

Saskatchewan Pioneers Of Eighties Asked To Register For Record

Regina, Sask.—A roll of honor of the pioneers of Saskatchewan of the '80's has been arranged for and will be prepared by Mrs. J. E. Bothwell, provincial librarian and archivist.

A special book is being made by J. H. Lee-Grayson of the government service, and all pioneers of the '80's are asked to register at the provincial library as soon as it is convenient for them. While the record will take the form of a roll of honor, another book will also be kept to record details, such as dates, experiences, etc., which will be kept in the provincial archives.

Reciprocal Trade Offer Made By Canada To Great Britain

Ottawa, Ont.—United States may lose millions of dollars as a result of a reciprocal trade offer made by Canada to Great Britain at the Imperial Economic Conference. Canada offered a market for $150,000,000 in British products in return for preferential treatment for wheat, lumber, butter, fish, dairy products, live cattle, meats, including hams; metals, vegetables and fruits.

Canada will admit free of duty, or over lowered tariff barriers hundreds of British goods, including iron and steel products, automotive glass, brass products, automobiles, glass goods and possibly chemicals, boots and shoes and some lines of cotton goods.

If the two countries come to definite agreement it will mean an influx

New York.—The New York Times says the formation of a $30,000,000 pool to operate in wheat is reported to have been virtually accomplished.

The pool, the paper says, probably will be managed by Arthur W. Cutten, of Chicago, a prominent operator in the grain markets of the United States and Canada.

Conditions in wheat, the Times continues, are believed such that a substantial betterment in price can be brought about, especially after hedging operations are over, around September 1.

This shared interest with belief in many quarters of Wall Street that a widespread programme for industrial revival is being formulated by governmental and financial interests, Eugene Meyer, governor of the Federal Reserve board, has discussed with bankers the practicality of organizing a corporation to finance raw material purchases for industrial and manufacturing companies.

Chicago.—Reports of a $30,000,000 pool in wheat spread over the trading floor of the Chicago Board of Trade today, but neither confirmation nor denial was forthcoming.

Arthur W. Cutten, veteran trader credited with directing the pool, was silent. So were his associates and other traders.

However, a wave of buying swept through the exchange at the opening and at least some of it was attributed to the pool report.

At the offices of the Farmers' National Grain corporation, wheat dealing organization sponsored by the federal Government, officials said they hoped the report of pool operations was true. "We'd be pleased if they would buy $60,000,000 worth," said George S. Milnor. "Wheat is too low and needs a little shove."

Armament Reduction

U.S. Administration Hopes International Conference Will Open the Way

Washington.—The United States administration hopes the forthcoming international economic conference, in addition to opening the way for an improvement of business conditions, will prove to be one of the steps leading to a reduction of world armaments.

This is one of the points being considered at the state department and the White House where thought is being given to the qualifications of a group of men from which will be chosen the three American members of the separate committees that will plan the conference and survey the economic and financial phases of the problem.

Celebrates Birthday

Ottawa, Ont.—The Imperial Conference paused for a few minutes to do honor to Rt. Hon. Stanley Baldwin, leader of the British delegation, on his 65th birthday anniversary. The congratulations of the assembled delegates were voiced by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, chairman of the conference, in a little speech. Mr. Baldwin replied with a few felicitous remarks. Mr. Baldwin was born on August 3, 1867—the year of Confederation.

THE COLEMAN JOURNAL
Published every Thursday at
COLEMAN, ALBERTA.
H. T. Halliwell, Proprietor.
Membership in Canadian Weekly
Newspapers Association and Alberta
Press Association.
Subscription $2.00 per year in Canada
United States and Great Britain $2.50

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Forestry officials must have the co-operation of the public if the attractions of the forest reserves are to be preserved. Carelessness has caused a staggering loss in merchantable timber, besides doing incalculable damage to animal, bird and fish life. Fishing regulations have been grossly abused and lamentable lack of sportsmanship is often shown in parties exceeding the limit and setting out to catch all they can. If the public shows little concern over the preservation of valuable natural assets, governments will not spend the money required to guard the forests. The public conscience must be aroused, for neglect and indifference and carelessness will result in the destruction of those charms which the mountain playgrounds afford.

Forest Ranger Boulton performs good service, not only in the practical work of forest conservation, but in his addresses to school children and to organizations. It is becoming increasingly difficult to secure the appropriations necessary for the efficient protection of the forest reserves, which makes it the more important that the public should back up the efforts of the forestry officials. The forests are a valuable asset to this and future generations. It is our duty to safeguard them.

It was regrettable that Coleman was not represented in the provincial track meet at Blairmore on August 10th. Some years ago a male teacher here coached the boys in athletic sports. Since he left there has been no leadership along this line. As a suggestion the next time the board engages a male teacher, they should secure one who possesses qualifications as a physical instructor. In that way Coleman might have its schools represented in provincial athletic circles.

"Bennett buggies" are the vogue in the dried-out areas of South Saskatchewan. Being unable to take out car licenses, or to buy gasoline, the family car has been utilized to meet conditions. The body is taken off, and a home-made box built on the chassis. The farmer rides on balloon tires, but instead of being propelled by gasoline, the faithful old horse is again drawing the load. Even the reeve of a municipality, who owns five sections of land, drives to council meetings in a Bennett buggy.

Though farmers have no money they have a roof and food for their families, which is an advantage over the wage-earner of the cities, who, when he loses his job, is forced onto the bread-line.

Under present circumstances, it is difficult for The Journal to maintain weekly publication, consequently it has been issued on alternate weeks. The reason is, mainly, insufficient advertising revenue. A newspaper cannot continue publishing merely to give the news; it needs something more substantial than good wishes, no matter how desirous the publisher may be to issue a paper of interest and which will reflect credit on the community. If business men do not appreciate the value of a newspaper being published in their home town, all the hustling in the world on the part of the publisher cannot overcome their apathy. But we hope to arrange things so that weekly publication may be resumed in the near future.

Man's obstinacy and refusal to reason is responsible for many blunders. After six months of absolutely, useless strike at Bellevue and Blairmore, not a point has been gained under "Red" leadership. Having gone so far the so-called leaders are in a quandary. They cannot now advise the men to return to work on the old agreement, because they have bolstered them up with promises that they would win. They are now as far from winning as in the first week of the strike. There is only one way in which peace will be restored. That is by knocking the props from under the present leaders and appointing men in their places who will follow common-sense methods. A retreat is the only course left open to those who have led the miners into the wilderness. But are they wise enough to even acknowledge their own pigheadedness?

(From the Cranbrook Courier)
Somehow we have always deplored the fact that as a matter of safety, and not economy, we have had to cling to the habit of wearing "gal-luses." Just lately, though, we have taken heart, for we have read an interview with Governor (Alfalfa) Bill Murray, of Oklahoma, in which he is quoted: "I have a reason back of everything I do, although it may not always be apparent to the man on the street. Now, suspenders are the natural thing for a man to wear. Anyone could arrive at that conclusion by the use of a bit of logic. A woman is built tapering from the hips each way. Therefore a belt is suitable to a woman. But a man is built tapering from the shoulders each way. Therefore suspenders are suitable to a man, and that's the reason I wear suspenders."

And continuing our discourse on suspenders, we ran across an item recently taken from the Kaslo Claim back in 1893, when it was published by the late Colonel Lowery: "The Claim rises to remark that, if the average pair of suspenders did not support the average pair of pants more effectively than this town supports this paper, the average man would very promptly be arrested for indecent exposure. And don't you get it."

The censorship is on. Bob Borden, who a Boy Scout messenger at the Economic Conference, sent The Journal a post card, stating he could not tell us what they were doing, because the government didn't want anything in the paper until it is over. Despite this, he was having a good time and lots of work to do.

PROFESSIONAL AND BUSINESS

Alex M. Morrison
Conveyancer
Fire, Life & Accident Insurance

R. F. BARNES
BARRISTER AND SOLICITOR
Phone 305 Coleman, Alberta
Residence Phone 2408

Summit Lodge
NO. 32, A. F. & A. M.
Regular meetings held first Thursday of each month, at 8 p.m.
Visiting Brethren cordially invited
S. C. Short, W. M.
Maurice W. Cooke, Secretary.

DENTISTRY
R. K. Lillie, D.D.S., L.D.S.
Graduate, N. U. D. S., Chicago
HOURS:
Coleman—Morning 9 to 12
Blairmore—Afternoon 1 to 6
Evenings by Appointment

PHONES:
Both Offices 3322 — Residence 3323

GEO. H. GRAHAM
PAPERHANGER
PAINTER — DECORATOR
We have in stock for the Retail Trade the following
Wallpaper, Paints, Brushes,
Glass, Wall Felt, Etc.
Phone 2408, Coleman.

DR. J. L. CHAPPELLE
CHIROPRACTOR
Office over Blairmore Hardware Store
Blairmore, Alberta
Office hours, 10 to 12 a.m.—2 to 5 p.m.
House calls in neighbouring towns at Blairmore rates.
14 years practical experience. Restoration assured in cases of appendicitis.

General Draying
and
Teaming
Fire Wood for sale

Plante & Antel

Al's Shoppe
Radio and Electrical Repairs
All Work Guaranteed
Prices Reasonable
Alvin E. Milley, Prop. Coleman

FLOWERS
Choice Cut
Flowers for EVERY Occasion
Frank Graham
Post Office
or Phone 81 w

CALENDARS AND NOVELTIES

Merchants desiring these for 1932 can order through The Journal. Prices run from $6.00 to $10.00 per 100 and we would be pleased to show samples.

Dealers for the Crows Nest Pass for
Buick and Pontiac
Automobiles

— and —
General Electric Radios

Complete stock of Ford Parts for Models A and T, also Truck parts.

Full line of Tires, Batteries and other accessories.

Service Garage

at the rear under the management of Chas. Chardom

Coleman Garage Limited

McGILLIVRAY CREEK COAL
and COKE CO. LTD.

Shippers of High Grade

Bituminous Steam Coal

Head Office and Mines:

COLEMAN

ALBERTA

International
Coal & Coke Co., Ltd.

Producers of
High Grade Coal and Coke

PROMPT ATTENTION
To Local Deliveries

GENERAL OFFICE HOURS:

International Coal & Coke Co., Limited
Coleman Light & Water Co., Limited.

Saturdays: 8.30 a.m. to 1.00 p.m.
Other Weekdays: 8.30 a.m. to 5.00 p.m.

BIG SPECIALS 25c For August 20-22-23

Rushton's Grocery

Chef Sauce, per bottle	25
Chef Herring Tomato Sauce, per bottle	25
Custard Powder, 1 lb tins	25
Little Chip Marmalade	25
Del Monte Prunes, 2 lb packages	25
Aylmer Bartlett Peas, per tin	25
Australian Sliced Peaches, per tin	25
Robin Hood Oats—Non-Premium	25
Sheriff's Jelly, (with Cream Jug)	25

Extra Special

Transparent Apples, 5 lbs for 25

Eat BREAD in the Morning

Two or three slices of Bread plain or toasted at breakfast time is equal to double the amount of other food because it is more nourishing.

Bread is your Best Food—Eat more of it.

Start the day right with several substantial slices of Bread—the bread that satisfies.

You will like the flavor of

MOTHER'S BREAD

"The Bread That Builds"

BELLEVUE BAKERY

Phone 74w, Bellevue J. Shields, Local Dealer

LOWER FARES
LABOR DAY

Between All Stations in Canada

One Way Fare and One Quarter
FOR THE ROUND-TRIP

Good going from Noon Sept. 2 to Noon Sept. 5
Return Limit Sept. 6, 1932

Ask CANADIAN PACIFIC

— Calgary's Popular Priced Hotels —

HOTEL YORK

EVERYTHING NEWEST—Rates $2.00 to $3.00
Coffee Shop — Best Food — Lowest Prices
— ALSO OPERATING —

HOTEL ST. REGIS

RATES: $1.00 and $1.50— Weekly and Monthly Rates

As Brewery Agents we make prompt household deliveries of beer orders

Phone 103 Coleman

Agents for the Brewing Industry of Alberta

Distributors Limited

This Advertisement is not inserted by the Alberta Liquor Control Board, or by the Government of the Province of Alberta

ADVERTISEMENTS ARE VERY GOOD SERVANTS

A Newspaper Advertisement is a publicly printed bond between merchants and the buying public. It is the strongest guarantee for goods of honest quality at fair and competitive prices. THRIFTY SHOPPERS WILL BUY ADVERTISED GOODS and refuse to accept substitutes.

Coleman Trading Co.

J. Michalsky, Prop.

PHONE 13

Specials

Good Only for August 20, 22 and 23

Grocery Specials

Bulk Australian Seedless Raisins, per lb	15c
Dyson's Tomato Ketchup, per bottle	20c
"Value" Cocoa, 1 lb pkgs., each	25c
2 packages for	45c
Kellogg's Corn Flakes, 3 pkgs. for	25c
Macaroni, 5 lb packages, each	30c
All Extracts, except Vanilla, 2 oz. bottles, 2 for	35c
Weston's Fancy Biscuits, 1 lb package, regular 50c, now	30c
Weston's Sodas, 1 lb packages, 2 for	35c
Braid's "Big-4" Coffee, vacuum packed, per tin	40c
Bean or Ground Coffee, 4 lbs for	$1.00
"Santos" Green Coffee, 5 lbs for	$1.00

We are now handling Fleischmann's Yeast

Meat Specials

T-Bone or Sirloin	Picnic Ham, per lb	13c
Steak, per lb	15c
Round Steak, 2 lbs	25c
Shoulder Beef, 3 lbs	25c
Stew Beef, per lb	05c
Beef Hamburger, 1 lb	10c
3 lbs for	25c
3 lbs Dominion Bacon
1 piece	40c
3 half lb packages of
Sliced Bacon for	25c
Swift's Monogram Ham
boneless, 4 or 5 lb
pieces, per lb	18c
Swift's or Burns' Pork
Sausage, 2 lbs	25c
Canadian Cheese,
2 lbs for	35c
Eggs, Fresh Firsts,
per dozen	15c

Flashlight Batteries at 10c

A Better Grade Thermos Bottle for less than ever before 50c

Johnson's "Glo-Coat" does away with drudgery of heavy polishing.

Special on Beds complete, $22.50 and $25.00

Coleman Hardware Co. Phone 68 W. Dutil, gr.

The Motordrome

Headquarters for the famous

"THREE STAR" and "TEXACO"

[Gasoline and Lubricating Oils]

Complete Service for Cars of All Makes.

Batteries Charged, Free Air.

Special Prices on New Batteries. Ask for Prices.

Tires, Tubes, and all Auto Accessories at the Lowest Current Prices.

JONES &amp; RINALDI Proprietors Phone 77

Threats of Strikers Met by Mounted Police Reinforcements on Monday

Intended to Stop Fire-Bosses Entering Bellevue Mine But Pickets Were Called Off

Something happened at Bellevue Monday morning to put a sudden quietus on a well-planned demonstration to stop the fire-bosses and other officials of West Canadian Collieries from entering the mine. The air was ominous with the possibility of a clash between strikers and mine officials. Strikers from Coleman and Blairmore had been brought in on motor trucks to reinforce the Bellevue strikers, and turned out en masse early Monday morning. But an unexpected turn to the strikers well laid plans suddenly developed.

A troop of fully equipped mounted police also paraded, brought in quietly during the night by special train, under Inspector K. Duncan. Before their appearance at Bellevue mine head to protect the men who were to enter the mine, the pickets were called off, and the strikers assembled at the football field, where an open-air meeting was held. It may have been a strategic withdrawal by the strikers, in the face of the display of police protection to prevent violence and lawlessness. Consequently nothing happened, except the usual crop of rumors circulating to the effect that government representatives and mining company executives were to meet. Of this no confirmation could be secured from any source.

Census Figures

In the Census report for 1931, Canada's population of 10,376,786, is listed under 30 denominations. 20,472 were listed under the heading of "No Religion." The Roman Catholics have 4,098,546; the Anglicans are second with 1,635,321; the United Church third with 2,016,897. The lowest is the Holiness Movement with 415. The report states that less than one-seventh of one per cent. failed to furnish a reply to the inquiry as to their religious affiliation. This is a pleasing contrast to conditions reported in Soviet Russia. Last week a report of a meeting in a nearby town contained the statement by a female speaker that they had kicked God out of Russia, for they found it did them no good to pray.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Dr. A. E. Shore, of Drs. Gunn, Hackney & Shore, Calgary, will be at the office of Dr. R. E. Stewart, Blairmore, on Monday afternoon, August 22nd. Anyone wishing to consult him with regard to eye, ear, nose or throat, please make appointment with Dr. Stewart.

Announcement

Mr. A. E. Ferguson, proprietor of Crows Nest Undertaking Parlors at Coleman and Blairmore, states that orders for flowers will be given prompt attention, he having the agency for Lethbridge and Calgary florists. 86-2

Mr. Melville Anderson, of Anderson & McLean, sight specialists, of Calgary, announces next visit to G. R. Powell's, Coleman, Tuesday, Sept. 6th. 20 years experience and regular visits assure you of satisfaction in all optical work.

The sale is reported of the Palm Confectionery to G. Biellish and a partner. They will leave the building.

Gerald D. Brophy, district passenger agent, C.P.R., Calgary, was a business visitor in town on Wednesday.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

The Journal's Classified Advt. column provides an economical and efficient medium for advertising at 2c a word, with a minimum charge of 30c cash and 50c if charged. You may have an article to sell that someone would buy if they know of it. Spend a few cents in making it known and turn it into cash.

Here and There

Lord Nigel Douglas-Hamilton, in charge of a party of thirty English Public School boys, who will arrive in Montreal August 5, under his supervision, claims that there is no better "finishing school" than a tour of this nature.

First wheat harvesting reports in the Canadian West were reported by the agricultural department of the Canadian Pacific Railway from Winnipeg, July 23, with barley and rye going under the knife in the Alida and Estevan subdivisions of the railway. The wheat was harvested in southern Manitoba.

August will see the season in the Canadian Rockies at its peak with the Prince of Wales Trophy, already bringing in golf entries from far and near, scheduled for August 15-20 and coinciding with this event the Indian Days' celebration, August 19-21, which will be attended by Stoney, Crees and Kootenays.

Conducting five French and five Swiss professional men from Paris, in addition to this contingent, Nicolas Racz, of the Paris office of the Canadian Pacific Railway, is visiting Toronto, Niagara Falls, Detroit, Chicago, Washington, New York, Albany, Montreal, Quebec, and returning to Europe on the Empress of Britain, August 6.

Flowers for any occasion may be ordered through Frank H. Graham, at the post office. Prompt service assured at all times; by telephoning 81W.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISEMENTS

LOST—Maroon sweater, at Crow's Nest Lake, Sunday, Aug. 9. Will finder kindly leave at Journal office.

GIRL WANTED—Who has had some experience in store. Apply to Mrs. Ferguson, Elite Confectionery.

Government Liquor Control Act of Alberta

Application for Beer License

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that the undersigned intend applying to the Alberta Liquor Control Board for a license to sell Beer by the glass or open bottle for consumption in conformity with the provisions of The Government Liquor Control Act of Alberta and the Regulations made thereunder with respect to the following premises:

The westerly portion of the ground floor of the Coleman Hotel situated upon lots 1 and 2, Block 11, Plan Coleman 8201.

Dated at Coleman the 9th day of July, A. D., 1932.

GEORGE DICKSON,
JOR LIPOVSKI,
Applicants.

WEEK OF Specials

Men's Pants
Men's Shirts
Ladies House
Dresses
Prints and Broad-cloths
and other lines.

Look for Special
Posters.

CHAS. NICHOLAS
"The Family Clothier"

PERMANENT WAVING

A Genuine
OIL PUSH-UP WAVE
with Perfect Ringlet Ends
Facial and Scalp Treatments

HUFFMAN'S
PHONE 147
Barber Shop and Beauty Parlor

Just Arrived

Chatelaine Patterns 15c

Dress Goods at Special Prices

Hats, real values at	$1.00 to $1.50
Dresses, ranging in price from	$1.00 to $2.25
Full Fashioned Ladies Hose at	$1.00
Babies Cot Blankets at	$1.65 to $2.15
Pillow Slips, per pair	.85
Men's and Boy's Shirts at	$1.00
Men's Work Socks, 3 pairs for	$1.00
EXTRA SPECIAL, Kotex (2 to a customer)	.39

These Specials good only for

Saturday, Monday and Tuesday

H. E. GATE - Phone 83

ZAK'S MEAT MARKET

PHONE 53 COLEMAN

Week-Specials for Cash and good until further notice

Empire or Dominion Bacon, per lb.	16c
Cottage Roll, per lb.	18c
Pork Sausage, Fresh and Delicious, 2 lbs for	25c
Fresh Tomato Sausage, per lb.	15c
Pork Legs and Loins, per lb.	25c
Pork Shoulder, 2 lbs	25c
Fresh Side Pork, per lb.	09c

Special for Saturday Only

Tip-Top Creamery Butter, per lb.	20c
Brookfield Creamery Butter, per lb.	25c
Exeter Skim Milk Cheese, 4 lbs for	65c

EXTRA SPECIAL
1 lb Pork Chops, 1 lb Tomato Sausage, 2 pkgs. Sliced Bacon, 1 lb Hamburger Steak, ALL FOR	50c
5 lb Pork Roast, shoulder, or Beef, 1 lb Bacon, 1 lb Butter, and 1 lb of Pork Sausage. ALL FOR	$1.00
— FREE DELIVERY —

Our COLEMAN FRIENDS have shown such an interest in CHRYSLER PRODUCTS that we have decided to open a show-room in COLEMAN.

See the New

Desoto "Six"

now on display at the

MOTORDROME, COLEMAN

CHARLES SARTORIS

South Side Garage

Blairmore, Alberta

Antrobus' Shoe Store

This store will re-open on

Tuesday, August 23rd

after being closed two weeks for holidays

Keep Health the Eno Way

You do not have to use drastic and strong cathartics that cause irritation. ENO'S "Fruit Salt," by gently and safely ridding the intestinal tract of poisons, will help to make you and keep you healthy. A dash of ENO in a glass of water every morning or night prevents the evils of constipation. Be ENO conscious!

ENO'S FRUIT SALT

WORLD HAPPENINGS BRIEFLY TOLD

Manitoba's only salt well has started production in commercial quantities.

France has agreed to make no move toward revision of her debt to the United States until conditions are more favorable.

Richard Nicholls, licensee of the Centre Hotel, Swansea, who does not bet, has travelled 23,500 miles to attend 48 consecutive Derby races.

Mill stones used for grinding wheat 100 years ago will be used again by Albert Miller, who is at present preparing to operate a water mill near Raglan, Ont.

There was a substantial gain in the Prairie Provinces wool clip last year. Alberta clipped 4,554,000 pounds, Saskatchewan 1,605,000 pounds, and Manitoba 1,202,000 pounds. Total 7,361,000 pounds.

President Hoover's fortune has dwindled from $4,000,000 in 1914, when he retired from active business, to $700,000 at the present time, the magazine Fortune asserts in its August issue.

The appointment of S. J. Hungerford, acting president of the Canadian National Railways to be a member of the board of directors of the government-owned system is announced.

A giant aeroplane, believed the largest land plane ever constructed, has been completed in the aircraft plant of the Ford Motor Company, Dearborn, Mich. Officials plan a test flight in the immediate future.

Adding to his already large holding of big trees, Frank J. D. Barnum, of Montreal and Annapolis Royal, U.S., has completed the purchase of an additional 248 acres of giant Douglas fir trees on Vancouver Island.

While driving his own automobile, Dr. Hugo Eckener, dirigible expert, tried to pack another motor car and ran into a tree with such force that he knocked it down at Kenner, Germany.

The collection of nineteenth-century British Empire postage stamps gathered by Dr. H. A. James, president of St. John's College, Oxford, England, was sold recently for nearly $34,000.

Extend Shooting Season

United States Season For Ducks and Geese To Be One Month Longer. Restrictions imposed on hunting ducks and geese in the United States last year were so successful in promoting an increase in these game birds that the 1932 open season will be two months instead of one month allowed in 1931.

The season will be October 1 to November 30 in the states bordering the Canadian prairie provinces, Minnesota, North Dakota and Montana. Throughout the country there will be a daily bag limit of 15, and a possession limit of 30, on all species of ducks.

Parachute leaps from airplanes at night are being attempted, with the aid of spot and flash lights.

Phosphorus for medicinal use is obtained from distillation of bone.

"There is room for only one here." Sandagmisse-Strix, Stockholm.

W. N. U. 1954

Reporter Ate the Evidence

Investigation Regarding Cheese Had To Be Called Off

The reporter dropped into the civic relief depot at Oshawa, Ont., in search of news. He was feeling rather hungry. There was a piece of cheese. He ate it.

Then the trouble began. The cheese, it seems, had been returned by an irate householder, who declared it was absolutely unfit for human consumption. It was to have been examined by the medical health officer, food inspector, members of the relief committee and other officials. But, with this evidence gone, the investigation was called off.

MOST HELPFUL LINES ARE EMBODIED IN THIS MODEL FOR THE MAKON

You have only to note its slender paneled cut skirt, bias seamed hip-line and becoming V-shaped neckline to realize this.

And it's the most comfortable dress to wear. And to make it! The bodice cuts in one until it joins the skirt. And by the way the gored skirt that gives one such charming height, you'll note is slightly circular toward the hem. Plain blue linen combines with a blue and white printed crepe linen in this slim-line model.

Style No. 371 is designed for sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48 inches bust. Size 36 requires 3 1/2 yards of 35-inch plain material with 1/2 yards of 35-inch figured material.

It is equally attractive carried out in one material with contrasting collar and cuffs.

Price of pattern 25 cents in stamps or coin (coin preferred). Wrap coin carefully.

How To Order Patterns

Address: Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 17C McDermott Ave., Winnipeg

Pattern No. .... Size .....

Name .....

When resting, a mosquito raises its hind legs.

"I ain't one of the graspin' sort, I'm considerin' your interests. The more you like to give me uncollected, the less I'll have to take off you by force—see?"—The Humorist, London, England.

Aviators Had Trying Time

Blown Off Course German Flyers Lost For Two Months

Two months ago Capt. Hans Bertram, 27, and Mechanic Adolph Klauermann took off from Koepang, Timor Island, for Darwin, Australia, 500 miles south. In their Junkers seaplane "Atlantis" they had left Germany three months prior, on a tour to boost German trade. From Koepang they never reached Darwin. For weeks flyers and foot parties searched the bush of Australia's north coast. Some black natives found the abandoned plane, and Capt. Bertram's cigarette case and a handkerchief, 100 miles northwest of Wyndham. Australian officials continued searching. Finally, at last, one day a police launch brought Bertram and Klauermann ashore at Wyndham, nearly deranged by suffering. Blown off their course in the night the flyers had landed near Drysdale, thinking it was Melville Island. They had a few biscuits, no water. For days they tramped the bush in search of water and friendly natives, and later drank the contents of the plane's radiator. On several occasions they plodded miles to what they thought was a signal fire, arrived exhausted to find an unattended bush fire. They "caught lizards on the rocks, which we ate ravenously." They fashioned a raft from one of their seaplane floats, paddled for five days in a rough sea, saw a steamer pass within a mile of them. Hunger drove them again ashore, to feed on snails and leaves. On the 38th day "to our great excitement we sighted a black, who brought a large fish, which we cooked and ate ravenously. We knelt and offered prayers to the good God for our deliverance."

In Rensched, Prussia, Capt. Bertram's home, his mother had turned grey, his grandmother had died of grief.

Fewer Hand-Lace Workers

Old Industry in France Is Gradually Dying

Attention is being called to the discouraging decline in the hand-made lace industry in France. When the few remaining lace-makers, mostly very old women in the remote corners of Flanders and the Vosges districts, have died, it will probably be next to impossible to find anyone to take their places. Prices will of course rise and those who possess collections of fine old lace will be able to ask large sums for them.

High tariff barriers have made exportation practically prohibitive, the one remaining open market being Belgium, a country which makes nearly all of her own lace consumption. Low wages are also discouraging the lace workers who find that they can earn far more at packing sardines on other less artistic work.

Machine Makes Rain For Russian Farms

Tests Of Device Said To Have Proved Satisfactory

An artificial rainmaker termed at Leningrad, the first in the world, has been produced by the special institute for artificial rain.

The rain making machine develops current at 75,000 volts and preliminary tests are stated to have proved highly satisfactory.

A second apparatus, with a capacity of 200,000 has been put into construction. This larger machine is expected to produce even more startling deluges.

It is understood that this apparatus and others which the institute plans to construct will eventually be installed in central Asia and in sections of the Volga region where a scant natural rainfall often harms crops.

When resting, a mosquito raises its hind legs.

When resting, a mosquito raises its hind legs.

When resting, a mosquito raises its hind legs.

When resting, a mosquito raises its hind legs.

When resting, a mosquito raises its hind legs.

When resting, a mosquito raises its hind legs.

When resting, a mosquito raises its hind legs.

When resting, a mosquito raises its hind legs.

When resting, a mosquito raises its hind legs.

When resting, a mosquito raises its hind legs.

When resting, a mosquito raises its hind legs.

When resting, a mosquito raises its hind legs.

When resting, a mosquito raises its hind legs.

When resting, a mosquito raises its hind legs.

Newspapers Win Prizes

Western Weeklies Receive Awards At Recent Convention

Prizes were awarded to the leading weekly newspapers at the annual convention of the Canadian Weekly Newspaper Association when the Roseville (Sask.) Eagle, published by C. W. Holmes, was awarded the Charles Clark cup, open to weeklies with circulation over 1,000 and under 2,000. Second prize went to La Chute (Que.) Watchman, and third to the Dufferin Leader, of Carman, Man.

The Hugh Savage shield in the competition for papers under 1,000 circulation was won by the Grand Forks, B.C., Gazette, A. F. Mason, publisher. There was a tie for second between Alameda (Sask.) Dispatch, and Curlew, Newfoundland, Western Star, Swan River (Man.) Star and Times was third, and Flin Flon Miner, Miss Louise Scheil, publisher, was fourth.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

A special prize for the best front page display donated by J. A. McLaren, of the Barrie Examiner, was won by the Yorkton (Sask.) Enterprise, published by S. N. Wynn.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

AUGUST 14

THE TEN COMMANDMENTS II.

Golden Text: "Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself."—Leviticus 19, 18.

Lesson: Exodus 20:12-21.

Devotional Reading: Psalm 15.

Explanations and Comments

The Law of Filial Piety, verse 12—"Thou shalt honor—love and respect—thy father and thy mother. This is the first commandment with promise, Ephesians 6:2; "that thy days may be long in the land which Jehovah thy God giveth thee." The promise coupled with this command in common with almost all the promises made to the ancient people of God, applies rather to the nation than to the individual. The people among whom the sacredness of the family ideal is maintained, whose children render obedience to their parents during the time of immaturity, and always honor them, will be the nation of strength, retaining its hold upon its own possessions, and abiding." The motive was not the highest motive, nor, for us, could it be the true one, but for slaves just escaped out of Egypt, it was wise."—H. W. Beecher.

The Law of Life, verse 13—"Thou shalt not kill." As the Hebrew word here translated "kill" is not the usual word for kill, the English Revised Version (not the American), translates the sentence, "Thou shalt do no murder." The prohibition does not include every kind of killing, but only that kind which we call murder. One who kills a man in order to save his own life or the lives of others is charged with manslaughter, not with murder. One who commits murder is actuated by a personal motive or passion. The soldier in battle is not actuated by personal feeling against the one whom he kills; he is fighting for his country, for the lives of others, and does not violate this commandment.

The Law of Purity, verse 14—"Thou shalt not commit adultery." Recall Jesus' words about this commandment in Matthew 5:27-32.

"Jesus lifted the whole matter to a high plane when He said it was impossible to deal with the question of human purity unless we deal with it in the thought stage. Jesus said that the man who indulges in evil mental attitudes is guilty, and from this indulgence he may excuse the man who by act or deed is partner to this mental state on the part of the man."—Arthur E. Holt.

The Law of Honesty, verse 15—"Thou shalt not steal."

"Borrowing without the permission of the lender is embezzlement under another name, even though it be done but temporarily, against the receipt of a check overdraw, or an intention to make the default good later on. Such articles in common use as umbrellas and books are often 'borrowed' by people of defective memory. Short weight, scant measure, adulterated goods, excessive prices, sweated wages, under-selling, and squeezing one's rival, are things so widespread that men suffer them to pass unchallenged and practice them with an easy conscience."—Allan Fiske.

The Law of Truthfulness, verse 16—"Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor." See Exodus 23, 7:1-2; Deuteronomy 19:15-20. The law refers primarily to false evidences given in a court of justice, and then, naturally, to any false testimony about another given under any circumstances. Few escape wrongful accusation of some sort. A new era is dawning upon us—for public menaces must now stand upon their own merits, and nefarious projects can no longer be supported by a name.

The Law of Desire, verse 17—"The last of the Ten Words differs radically from the rest. It closes the second part of the code and refers not only to man's relations to his fellows, but his relation to himself. Not only is he to suppress all those acts which disrupt his relationship to God and nature, but he is to suppress all those impulses which surge up within his heart; he is to regulate and purge the very sources of action."

Selling Emperor's Treasures

Tourists Are Offered Articles Belonging To Former Chinese Rulers

The treasures of an emperor—many emperors really—are sold weekly in the sacred precincts of the Forbidden City. An advertisement in the newspaper attracts romantic foreigners when it offers "once in a history for you to obtain silks, brocades, embroideries, teas, etc., from China's former Imperial Household."

The articles on sale represent but a portion of the great chests full of tribute stored away by emperors during the centuries' mystery connected with the dwellers of the Forbidden City. Every Sunday from ten to four certain pavilions of the palace are turned into sale rooms where the articles are disposed of at moderate prices with full consent of the national government.

Probably Good Thing

A father was discussing with her daughter the qualities of men. "Oh," said the daughter impatiently, "but they have no self-control!" "All the better," replied the mother. "If they had there would be a great many more spinsters."

Don't get too self-important. You may be as wise as an owl and just as stupid.

I haven't been so happy for years.

"I've just thrown out all my dust cloths

—because I've found how to do the work better, easier and quicker."

"I use Appleford Wonder Paper now. You buy it in a neat package that looks every handily in a table drawer. Twenty-five large sheets for a quarter. When you use it, you simply crumple a sheet into a soft wad and go over whatever needs attention."

"I've never seen anything like Wonder Paper. It really dusters, cleans and polishes at the same time. It takes up dirt like magic, and so easily. And you can use both sides."

"When I need to leathe about dusting was the bother of keeping the dusters clean. I always used odds and ends of old shirts and the like—and it seemed to me I was eternally washing them. It worried me just to throw them into a bag or cupboard. They seemed so unsanitary."

"The beauty of Wonder Paper is that you throw it away when you're through with it."

"I can promise that you'll like Wonder Paper. It gives you time for things very much more attractive than dusting."

Special Offer

WONDER PAPER is made by the makers of the famous PARA-SANI Heavy Waxed Paper in the Green Box. Most grocery and hardware and department stores have Appleford Wonder Paper in stock. If yours hasn't, send us the coupon below and we'll give you a booklet entitled "Lettovers," containing one hundred recipes, as a bonus for your trouble.

Appleford Paper Products, Ltd., Hamilton, Ontario.

Enclosed find 25c for which please send me one package of The Wonder Paper and your 100 recipes for "Lettovers."

Name .....

Address .....

My dealer is .....

Study Terrestrial Magnetism

Well-Equipped Expedition To North Will Investigate Polar Disturbances

The observations being carried out by the "Million Dollar Expedition" which will be stationed at Chesterfield Island this winter will be of great importance to Hudson Bay shipping, was learned from members of the party who arrived at Churchill. Those who will go north are Frank T. Davies, M.Sc., McGill University, in charge of the party; S. T. McVeigh, B.Sc., research assistant, chemical engineer, Queen's University Kingston; Dr. B. W. Currie, University of Saskatchewan, physicist; John P. Ra, observer and cook.

Chesterfield Island is situated within the realm of the most violent magnetic disturbance, which often renders ordinary compass readings at times, and which have proved one of the arguments against the success of Hudson Bay as a shipping route.

The party has the most elaborate equipment ever brought into the north for the study of terrestrial magnetism, earth currents, aurora and meteorological and upper air work.

It is expected that their studies will make a definite contribution to the relief of problems of navigators within the magnetic disturbance zone.

George Washington was at one time one of the outstanding tobacco planters in Virginia.

China has a national weather bureau just four years old.

China has a national weather bureau just four years old.

China has a national weather bureau just four years old.

China has a national weather bureau just four years old.

China has a national weather bureau just four years old.

China has a national weather bureau just four years old.

China has a national weather bureau just four years old.

China has a national weather bureau just four years old.

China has a national weather bureau just four years old.

China has a national weather bureau just four years old.

China has a national weather bureau just four years old.

China has a national weather bureau just four years old.

China has a national weather bureau just four years old.

China has a national weather bureau just four years old.

China has a national weather bureau just four years old.

China has a national weather bureau just four years old.

China has a national weather bureau just four years old.

It's the real fruit flavor that makes the difference. Packed full of plump, uncrushed Sultanas fresh from the sunny vineyards, Christie's Sultana Biscuits are flavorful, delicious, wholesome—fit for a king.

Christie's Sultanas

THE HOUSE OF DREAMS-COME-TRUE

—BY—
MARGARET FIEDLER
Author of
"The Splendid Folly," "The Harlot of Far Road," Hodder & Stoughton, Ltd., London.

CHAPTER XXVII.—Continued.

But she had courage enough to face the consequences of that refusal, to stand up to the clatter of poisonous tongues that must ensue; and trust enough to bank on the loyalty of her real friends, knowing it would be the same splendid loyalty that she herself would have given to any one of them in like circumstances. For Jean was a woman who won more than mere lip-service from those who called themselves her friends.

Jean envisaged very clearly the possibilities that lay ahead—envying them with a breathless, torturing perception of their imminence. It was to be a fight—here and now—for the whole happiness that life might hold. She turned to Burke breaking at last the long silence which had descended upon them.

"And what do you suppose I feel towards you, Geoffrey? Will you be content to have your wife think of you—as I must think?"

A faint shadow flitted across his face. The quiet scorn of her words—their underlying significance—flicked him on the raw.

"I'll be content to have you as my wife—at any price," he said stubbornly. "Jean"—a sudden urgency in his tones—"try to believe I hate all this as much as you do. When you're my wife, I'll spend my life in teaching you to forget it—in wiping the very memory of today out of your mind."

"I shall never forget it," she said slowly. Then bitterly: "I wonder why you even offer me a choice—when you know that it is really no choice."

"Why? Because I swear to you that you should give me what I want—that I wouldn't take even a kiss from you again by force. But"—unevenly—"I didn't know what it meant—the waiting!"

Outside, the mist had thickened into fog, curtaining the windows. The light had dimmed to a queer, glimmering dusk, changing the values of things, and out of the shifting shadows her white face, with its scarlet line of scornful mouth, gleamed at him—elusive, tantalizing as a flower that sways out of reach. In the uncertain half-light which struggled in through the dulled window-panes there was something provocative, maddening—a kind of etherealized lure of the senses in the wavering, shadowed loveliness of her. The man's pulses leaped; something within him slipped its leash.

"Kiss me!" he demanded hoarsely. "Don't keep me waiting any longer. Give me your lips . . . now . . . now . . ."

She sprang aside from him, ward-

W. N. U. 1954

ly. "I can't answer you now, Geoffrey. I must have time—time. Don't press me now."

"Very well." There was an unaccustomed gentleness in his manner. Perhaps something in the intense weariness of her tones appealed to him. "Are you very tired Jean?"

"Do you know?" she spoke with some surprise, as though the idea had only just presented itself to her—"do you know, I believe I'm hungry! It sounds very material of me"—laughing a little. "A woman in my predicament ought to be quite above—or beyond—mere pangs of hunger."

"Hungry? By Jove, and you will might be by this hour of the day!" he exclaimed remorsefully. "Look here, we'll have supper. There are some chops in the larder. We'll cook them together—and then you'll see what a really domesticated husband I shall make."

He spoke with a new gaiety, as though he felt very sure of his ultimate decision and glad that the strain of the struggle of opposing wills was past.

"Chops? How heavenly! I'm afraid!"—apologetically—"It's very unromantic of me, Geoffrey."

He laughed and, striking a match, lit the lamp.

"Disgracefully so! But there are moments for romance and moments for chops. And this is distinctly the moment for chops. Come along and help me cook 'em."

He flashed a keen glance at her face as the sudden lamplight dispelled the shadows of the room. But there was nothing in it to contradict the insouciance of her speech. Her cheeks were a little flushed and her eyes very bright, but her smile was quite natural and unforced. Burke reflected that women were queer, unathomable creatures. They would fight you to the last ditch and then suddenly surrender, probably liking you in secret all the better for having mastered them.

He had forgotten that he was dealing with a daughter of Jacques Mavor. All the address that was Jean's mother came out in her now, called up from some hidden fount of inherited knowledge to meet the imperative need of the moment.

No one, watching Jean as she accompanied Burke to the kitchen premises and assisted him in the preparation of their supper, would have imagined that she was acting her part in any other capacity than that of willing playmate. She was wise enough not to exhibit any desire to leave him alone during the process of carrying the requisites for the meal from the kitchen into the living room. She had noticed the sudden mistrust in his watchful eyes and the way in which he had instantly followed her when, at the commencement of the proceedings, she had unthinkingly started off down the passage from the kitchen, carrying a small tray of table silver in her hand, and thereafter she refrained from giving him the slightest ground for suspicion. Together they cooked the chops, together laid the table, and finally sat down to share the appetizing results of their united efforts.

Throughout the little meal Jean preserved an attitude of detached friendliness, laughing at any amusements that cropped up in the course of conversation and responding gaily enough to Burke's efforts to entertain her. Now and again, as though unconsciously, she would fall into a brief reverie, apparently preoccupied with the choice that lay before her, and at these moments Burke would refrain from distracting her attention, but she would laugh intently, with those burning eyes of his, the charming face and sensitive mouth touched to a sudden new seriousness that appealed.

By the time the meal had drawn to an end, his earlier suspicions had been lulled into tranquillity and over the making of the coffee he became once more the big, overgrown school-boy and jolly comrade of his less tempestuous moments. It almost seemed as though, to please her, to atone in a measure for the mental suffering he had thrust on her, he was endeavoring to keep the "whimmet lover" in the background and show her only that side of himself which would serve to reassure her.

"I rather fancy myself at coffee-making," he told her, as he dexterously manipulated the little coffee machine.

"Then—then I can have a little time to think it over," she said after a moment. "We could get back to Stalpy by ten if we left here at eight-thirty."

"There are drawbacks. We should have to go slow through this infernal mist. Jean"—his voice took on a note of passionate entreaty—"sweetest, won't you give me your promise and let me take you home? You shall never regret it."

"Oh, hush!" she checked him quick-

ly. "I can't answer you now, Geoffrey. I must have time—time. Don't press me now."

"Very well." There was an unaccustomed gentleness in his manner. Perhaps something in the intense weariness of her tones appealed to him. "Are you very tired Jean?"

"Do you know?" she spoke with some surprise, as though the idea had only just presented itself to her—"do you know, I believe I'm hungry! It sounds very material of me"—laughing a little. "A woman in my predicament ought to be quite above—or beyond—mere pangs of hunger."

"Hungry? By Jove, and you will might be by this hour of the day!" he exclaimed remorsefully. "Look here, we'll have supper. There are some chops in the larder. We'll cook them together—and then you'll see what a really domesticated husband I shall make."

He spoke with a new gaiety, as though he felt very sure of his ultimate decision and glad that the strain of the struggle of opposing wills was past.

"Chops? How heavenly! I'm afraid!"—apologetically—"It's very unromantic of me, Geoffrey."

He laughed and, striking a match, lit the lamp.

"Disgracefully so! But there are moments for romance and moments for chops. And this is distinctly the moment for chops. Come along and help me cook 'em."

He flashed a keen glance at her face as the sudden lamplight dispelled the shadows of the room. But there was nothing in it to contradict the insouciance of her speech. Her cheeks were a little flushed and her eyes very bright, but her smile was quite natural and unforced. Burke reflected that women were queer, unathomable creatures. They would fight you to the last ditch and then suddenly surrender, probably liking you in secret all the better for having mastered them.

He had forgotten that he was dealing with a daughter of Jacques Mavor. All the address that was Jean's mother came out in her now, called up from some hidden fount of inherited knowledge to meet the imperative need of the moment.

No one, watching Jean as she accompanied Burke to the kitchen premises and assisted him in the preparation of their supper, would have imagined that she was acting her part in any other capacity than that of willing playmate. She was wise enough not to exhibit any desire to leave him alone during the process of carrying the requisites for the meal from the kitchen into the living room. She had noticed the sudden mistrust in his watchful eyes and the way in which he had instantly followed her when, at the commencement of the proceedings, she had unthinkingly started off down the passage from the kitchen, carrying a small tray of table silver in her hand, and thereafter she refrained from giving him the slightest ground for suspicion. Together they cooked the chops, together laid the table, and finally sat down to share the appetizing results of their united efforts.

Throughout the little meal Jean preserved an attitude of detached friendliness, laughing at any amusements that cropped up in the course of conversation and responding gaily enough to Burke's efforts to entertain her. Now and again, as though unconsciously, she would fall into a brief reverie, apparently preoccupied with the choice that lay before her, and at these moments Burke would refrain from distracting her attention, but she would laugh intently, with those burning eyes of his, the charming face and sensitive mouth touched to a sudden new seriousness that appealed.

By the time the meal had drawn to an end, his earlier suspicions had been lulled into tranquillity and over the making of the coffee he became once more the big, overgrown school-boy and jolly comrade of his less tempestuous moments. It almost seemed as though, to please her, to atone in a measure for the mental suffering he had thrust on her, he was endeavoring to keep the "whimmet lover" in the background and show her only that side of himself which would serve to reassure her.

"I rather fancy myself at coffee-making," he told her, as he dexterously manipulated the little coffee machine.

"Then—then I can have a little time to think it over," she said after a moment. "We could get back to Stalpy by ten if we left here at eight-thirty."

"There are drawbacks. We should have to go slow through this infernal mist. Jean"—his voice took on a note of passionate entreaty—"sweetest, won't you give me your promise and let me take you home? You shall never regret it."

"Oh, hush!" she checked him quick-

ly. "I can't answer you now, Geoffrey. I must have time—time. Don't press me now."

"Very well." There was an unaccustomed gentleness in his manner. Perhaps something in the intense weariness of her tones appealed to him. "Are you very tired Jean?"

"Do you know?" she spoke with some surprise, as though the idea had only just presented itself to her—"do you know, I believe I'm hungry! It sounds very material of me"—laughing a little. "A woman in my predicament ought to be quite above—or beyond—mere pangs of hunger."

"Hungry? By Jove, and you will might be by this hour of the day!" he exclaimed remorsefully. "Look here, we'll have supper. There are some chops in the larder. We'll cook them together—and then you'll see what a really domesticated husband I shall make."

He spoke with a new gaiety, as though he felt very sure of his ultimate decision and glad that the strain of the struggle of opposing wills was past.

"Chops? How heavenly! I'm afraid!"—apologetically—"It's very unromantic of me, Geoffrey."

He laughed and, striking a match, lit the lamp.

"Disgracefully so! But there are moments for romance and moments for chops. And this is distinctly the moment for chops. Come along and help me cook 'em."

He flashed a keen glance at her face as the sudden lamplight dispelled the shadows of the room. But there was nothing in it to contradict the insouciance of her speech. Her cheeks were a little flushed and her eyes very bright, but her smile was quite natural and unforced. Burke reflected that women were queer, unathomable creatures. They would fight you to the last ditch and then suddenly surrender, probably liking you in secret all the better for having mastered them.

He had forgotten that he was dealing with a daughter of Jacques Mavor. All the address that was Jean's mother came out in her now, called up from some hidden fount of inherited knowledge to meet the imperative need of the moment.

No one, watching Jean as she accompanied Burke to the kitchen premises and assisted him in the preparation of their supper, would have imagined that she was acting her part in any other capacity than that of willing playmate. She was wise enough not to exhibit any desire to leave him alone during the process of carrying the requisites for the meal from the kitchen into the living room. She had noticed the sudden mistrust in his watchful eyes and the way in which he had instantly followed her when, at the commencement of the proceedings, she had unthinkingly started off down the passage from the kitchen, carrying a small tray of table silver in her hand, and thereafter she refrained from giving him the slightest ground for suspicion. Together they cooked the chops, together laid the table, and finally sat down to share the appetizing results of their united efforts.

Throughout the little meal Jean preserved an attitude of detached friendliness, laughing at any amusements that cropped up in the course of conversation and responding gaily enough to Burke's efforts to entertain her. Now and again, as though unconsciously, she would fall into a brief reverie, apparently preoccupied with the choice that lay before her, and at these moments Burke would refrain from distracting her attention, but she would laugh intently, with those burning eyes of his, the charming face and sensitive mouth touched to a sudden new seriousness that appealed.

By the time the meal had drawn to an end, his earlier suspicions had been lulled into tranquillity and over the making of the coffee he became once more the big, overgrown school-boy and jolly comrade of his less tempestuous moments. It almost seemed as though, to please her, to atone in a measure for the mental suffering he had thrust on her, he was endeavoring to keep the "whimmet lover" in the background and show her only that side of himself which would serve to reassure her.

"I rather fancy myself at coffee-making," he told her, as he dexterously manipulated the little coffee machine.

"Then—then I can have a little time to think it over," she said after a moment. "We could get back to Stalpy by ten if we left here at eight-thirty."

"There are drawbacks. We should have to go slow through this infernal mist. Jean"—his voice took on a note of passionate entreaty—"sweetest, won't you give me your promise and let me take you home? You shall never regret it."

"Oh, hush!" she checked him quick-

ly. "I can't answer you now, Geoffrey. I must have time—time. Don't press me now."

"Very well." There was an unaccustomed gentleness in his manner. Perhaps something in the intense weariness of her tones appealed to him. "Are you very tired Jean?"

"Do you know?" she spoke with some surprise, as though the idea had only just presented itself to her—"do you know, I believe I'm hungry! It sounds very material of me"—laughing a little. "A woman in my predicament ought to be quite above—or beyond—mere pangs of hunger."

"Hungry? By Jove, and you will might be by this hour of the day!" he exclaimed remorsefully. "Look here, we'll have supper. There are some chops in the larder. We'll cook them together—and then you'll see what a really domesticated husband I shall make."

He spoke with a new gaiety, as though he felt very sure of his ultimate decision and glad that the strain of the struggle of opposing wills was past.

"Chops? How heavenly! I'm afraid!"—apologetically—"It's very unromantic of me, Geoffrey."

He laughed and, striking a match, lit the lamp.

"Disgracefully so! But there are moments for romance and moments for chops. And this is distinctly the moment for chops. Come along and help me cook 'em."

He flashed a keen glance at her face as the sudden lamplight dispelled the shadows of the room. But there was nothing in it to contradict the insouciance of her speech. Her cheeks were a little flushed and her eyes very bright, but her smile was quite natural and unforced. Burke reflected that women were queer, unathomable creatures. They would fight you to the last ditch and then suddenly surrender, probably liking you in secret all the better for having mastered them.

He had forgotten that he was dealing with a daughter of Jacques Mavor. All the address that was Jean's mother came out in her now, called up from some hidden fount of inherited knowledge to meet the imperative need of the moment.

No one, watching Jean as she accompanied Burke to the kitchen premises and assisted him in the preparation of their supper, would have imagined that she was acting her part in any other capacity than that of willing playmate. She was wise enough not to exhibit any desire to leave him alone during the process of carrying the requisites for the meal from the kitchen into the living room. She had noticed the sudden mistrust in his watchful eyes and the way in which he had instantly followed her when, at the commencement of the proceedings, she had unthinkingly started off down the passage from the kitchen, carrying a small tray of table silver in her hand, and thereafter she refrained from giving him the slightest ground for suspicion. Together they cooked the chops, together laid the table, and finally sat down to share the appetizing results of their united efforts.

Throughout the little meal Jean preserved an attitude of detached friendliness, laughing at any amusements that cropped up in the course of conversation and responding gaily enough to Burke's efforts to entertain her. Now and again, as though unconsciously, she would fall into a brief reverie, apparently preoccupied with the choice that lay before her, and at these moments Burke would refrain from distracting her attention, but she would laugh intently, with those burning eyes of his, the charming face and sensitive mouth touched to a sudden new seriousness that appealed.

By the time the meal had drawn to an end, his earlier suspicions had been lulled into tranquillity and over the making of the coffee he became once more the big, overgrown school-boy and jolly comrade of his less tempestuous moments. It almost seemed as though, to please her, to atone in a measure for the mental suffering he had thrust on her, he was endeavoring to keep the "whimmet lover" in the background and show her only that side of himself which would serve to reassure her.

"I rather fancy myself at coffee-making," he told her, as he dexterously manipulated the little coffee machine.

"Then—then I can have a little time to think it over," she said after a moment. "We could get back to Stalpy by ten if we left here at eight-thirty."

"There are drawbacks. We should have to go slow through this infernal mist. Jean"—his voice took on a note of passionate entreaty—"sweetest, won't you give me your promise and let me take you home? You shall never regret it."

"Oh, hush!" she checked him quick-

ly. "I can't answer you now, Geoffrey. I must have time—time. Don't press me now."

"Very well." There was an unaccustomed gentleness in his manner. Perhaps something in the intense weariness of her tones appealed to him. "Are you very tired Jean?"

"Do you know?" she spoke with some surprise, as though the idea had only just presented itself to her—"do you know, I believe I'm hungry! It sounds very material of me"—laughing a little. "A woman in my predicament ought to be quite above—or beyond—mere pangs of hunger."

"Hungry? By Jove, and you will might be by this hour of the day!" he exclaimed remorsefully. "Look here, we'll have supper. There are some chops in the larder. We'll cook them together—and then you'll see what a really domesticated husband I shall make."

He spoke with a new gaiety, as though he felt very sure of his ultimate decision and glad that the strain of the struggle of opposing wills was past.

"Chops? How heavenly! I'm afraid!"—apologetically—"It's very unromantic of me, Geoffrey."

He laughed and, striking a match, lit the lamp.

"Disgracefully so! But there are moments for romance and moments for chops. And this is distinctly the moment for chops. Come along and help me cook 'em."

He flashed a keen glance at her face as the sudden lamplight dispelled the shadows of the room. But there was nothing in it to contradict the insouciance of her speech. Her cheeks were a little flushed and her eyes very bright, but her smile was quite natural and unforced. Burke reflected that women were queer, unathomable creatures. They would fight you to the last ditch and then suddenly surrender, probably liking you in secret all the better for having mastered them.

He had forgotten that he was dealing with a daughter of Jacques Mavor. All the address that was Jean's mother came out in her now, called up from some hidden fount of inherited knowledge to meet the imperative need of the moment.

No one, watching Jean as she accompanied Burke to the kitchen premises and assisted him in the preparation of their supper, would have imagined that she was acting her part in any other capacity than that of willing playmate. She was wise enough not to exhibit any desire to leave him alone during the process of carrying the requisites for the meal from the kitchen into the living room. She had noticed the sudden mistrust in his watchful eyes and the way in which he had instantly followed her when, at the commencement of the proceedings, she had unthinkingly started off down the passage from the kitchen, carrying a small tray of table silver in her hand, and thereafter she refrained from giving him the slightest ground for suspicion. Together they cooked the chops, together laid the table, and finally sat down to share the appetizing results of their united efforts.

Throughout the little meal Jean preserved an attitude of detached friendliness, laughing at any amusements that cropped up in the course of conversation and responding gaily enough to Burke's efforts to entertain her. Now and again, as though unconsciously, she would fall into a brief reverie, apparently preoccupied with the choice that lay before her, and at these moments Burke would refrain from distracting her attention, but she would laugh intently, with those burning eyes of his, the charming face and sensitive mouth touched to a sudden new seriousness that appealed.

By the time the meal had drawn to an end, his earlier suspicions had been lulled into tranquillity and over the making of the coffee he became once more the big, overgrown school-boy and jolly comrade of his less tempestuous moments. It almost seemed as though, to please her, to atone in a measure for the mental suffering he had thrust on her, he was endeavoring to keep the "whimmet lover" in the background and show her only that side of himself which would serve to reassure her.

"I rather fancy myself at coffee-making," he told her, as he dexterously manipulated the little coffee machine.

"Then—then I can have a little time to think it over," she said after a moment. "We could get back to Stalpy by ten if we left here at eight-thirty."

"There are drawbacks. We should have to go slow through this infernal mist. Jean"—his voice took on a note of passionate entreaty—"sweetest, won't you give me your promise and let me take you home? You shall never regret it."

"Oh, hush!" she checked him quick-

ly. "I can't answer you now, Geoffrey. I must have time—time. Don't press me now."

"Very well." There was an unaccustomed gentleness in his manner. Perhaps something in the intense weariness of her tones appealed to him. "Are you very tired Jean?"

"Do you know?" she spoke with some surprise, as though the idea had only just presented itself to her—"do you know, I believe I'm hungry! It sounds very material of me"—laughing a little. "A woman in my predicament ought to be quite above—or beyond—mere pangs of hunger."

"Hungry? By Jove, and you will might be by this hour of the day!" he exclaimed remorsefully. "Look here, we'll have supper. There are some chops in the larder. We'll cook them together—and then you'll see what a really domesticated husband I shall make."

He spoke with a new gaiety, as though he felt very sure of his ultimate decision and glad that the strain of the struggle of opposing wills was past.

"Chops? How heavenly! I'm afraid!"—apologetically—"It's very unromantic of me, Geoffrey."

He laughed and, striking a match, lit the lamp.

"Disgracefully so! But there are moments for romance and moments for chops. And this is distinctly the moment for chops. Come along and help me cook 'em."

He flashed a keen glance at her face as the sudden lamplight dispelled the shadows of the room. But there was nothing in it to contradict the insouciance of her speech. Her cheeks were a little flushed and her eyes very bright, but her smile was quite natural and unforced. Burke reflected that women were queer, unathomable creatures. They would fight you to the last ditch and then suddenly surrender, probably liking you in secret all the better for having mastered them.

He had forgotten that he was dealing with a daughter of Jacques Mavor. All the address that was Jean's mother came out in her now, called up from some hidden fount of inherited knowledge to meet the imperative need of the moment.

No one, watching Jean as she accompanied Burke to the kitchen premises and assisted him in the preparation of their supper, would have imagined that she was acting her part in any other capacity than that of willing playmate. She was wise enough not to exhibit any desire to leave him alone during the process of carrying the requisites for the meal from the kitchen into the living room. She had noticed the sudden mistrust in his watchful eyes and the way in which he had instantly followed her when, at the commencement of the proceedings, she had unthinkingly started off down the passage from the kitchen, carrying a small tray of table silver in her hand, and thereafter she refrained from giving him the slightest ground for suspicion. Together they cooked the chops, together laid the table, and finally sat down to share the appetizing results of their united efforts.

Throughout the little meal Jean preserved an attitude of detached friendliness, laughing at any amusements that cropped up in the course of conversation and responding gaily enough to Burke's efforts to entertain her. Now and again, as though unconsciously, she would fall into a brief reverie, apparently preoccupied with the choice that lay before her, and at these moments Burke would refrain from distracting her attention, but she would laugh intently, with those burning eyes of his, the charming face and sensitive mouth touched to a sudden new seriousness that appealed.

By the time the meal had drawn to an end, his earlier suspicions had been lulled into tranquillity and over the making of the coffee he became once more the big, overgrown school-boy and jolly comrade of his less tempestuous moments. It almost seemed as though, to please her, to atone in a measure for the mental suffering he had thrust on her, he was endeavoring to keep the "whimmet lover" in the background and show her only that side of himself which would serve to reassure her.

"I rather fancy myself at coffee-making," he told her, as he dexterously manipulated the little coffee machine.

"Then—then I can have a little time to think it over," she said after a moment. "We could get back to Stalpy by ten if we left here at eight-thirty."

"There are drawbacks. We should have to go slow through this infernal mist. Jean"—his voice took on a note of passionate entreaty—"sweetest, won't you give me your promise and let me take you home? You shall never regret it."

"Oh, hush!" she checked him quick-

ly. "I can't answer you now, Geoffrey. I must have time—time. Don't press me now."

"Very well." There was an unaccustomed gentleness in his manner. Perhaps something in the intense weariness of her tones appealed to him. "Are you very tired Jean?"

"Do you know?" she spoke with some surprise, as though the idea had only just presented itself to her—"do you know, I believe I'm hungry! It sounds very material of me"—laughing a little. "A woman in my predicament ought to be quite above—or beyond—mere pangs of hunger."

"Hungry? By Jove, and you will might be by this hour of the day!" he exclaimed remorsefully. "Look here, we'll have supper. There are some chops in the larder. We'll cook them together—and then you'll see what a really domesticated husband I shall make."

He spoke with a new gaiety, as though he felt very sure of his ultimate decision and glad that the strain of the struggle of opposing wills was past.

"Chops? How heavenly! I'm afraid!"—apologetically—"It's very unromantic of me, Geoffrey."

He laughed and, striking a match, lit the lamp.

"Disgracefully so! But there are moments for romance and moments for chops. And this is distinctly the moment for chops. Come along and help me cook 'em."

He flashed a keen glance at her face as the sudden lamplight dispelled the shadows of the room. But there was nothing in it to contradict the insouciance of her speech. Her cheeks were a little flushed and her eyes very bright, but her smile was quite natural and unforced. Burke reflected that women were queer, unathomable creatures. They would fight you to the last ditch and then suddenly surrender, probably liking you in secret all the better for having mastered them.

He had forgotten that he was dealing with a daughter of Jacques Mavor. All the address that was Jean's mother came out in her now, called up from some hidden fount of inherited knowledge to meet the imperative need of the moment.

No one, watching Jean as she accompanied Burke to the kitchen premises and assisted him in the preparation of their supper, would have imagined that she was acting her part in any other capacity than that of willing playmate. She was wise enough not to exhibit any desire to leave him alone during the process of carrying the requisites for the meal from the kitchen into the living room. She had noticed the sudden mistrust in his watchful eyes and the way in which he had instantly followed her when, at the commencement of the proceedings, she had unthinkingly started off down the passage from the kitchen, carrying a small tray of table silver in her hand, and thereafter she refrained from giving him the slightest ground for suspicion. Together they cooked the chops, together laid the table, and finally sat down to share the appetizing results of their united efforts.

Throughout the little meal Jean preserved an attitude of detached friendliness, laughing at any amusements that cropped up in the course of conversation and responding gaily enough to Burke's efforts to entertain her. Now and again, as though unconsciously, she would fall into a brief reverie, apparently preoccupied with the choice that lay before her, and at these moments Burke would refrain from distracting her attention, but she would laugh intently, with those burning eyes of his, the charming face and sensitive mouth touched to a sudden new seriousness that appealed.

By the time the meal had drawn to an end, his earlier suspicions had been lulled into tranquillity and over the making of the coffee he became once more the big, overgrown school-boy and jolly comrade of his less tempestuous moments. It almost seemed as though, to please her, to atone in a measure for the mental suffering he had thrust on her, he was endeavoring to keep the "whimmet lover" in the background and show her only that side of himself which would serve to reassure her.

"I rather fancy myself at coffee-making," he told her, as he dexterously manipulated the little coffee machine.

"Then—then I can have a little time to think it over," she said

You Like to Create a Favorable Impression

The stationery you use is an important factor. It is an important indication of character. Be sure to use good stationery. See our special boxes which we are now selling at from, per box,

75c to $1.50

Thermos Bottles, pint size, good buying at 65c
Quart Size, with three drinking cups - $1.75

McBurney's
Telephone 44

For First-Class Hardware See Pattinson We Buy the BEST

See us for a
Coffield Washing Machine
Cash or Terms

PATTINSON'S HARDWARE STORE
Hardware, Electrical Goods, Tools, Etc.
Store Phone 180 House Phone 30 F

FOR SALE

1 Good Saddle Horse, with Saddle and Bridle. Cheap
2 Log Buildings, good for fuel.
Mattresses and Beds.

The McLaren Lumber Company, Limited

Phone 32 J. M. ALLAN Phone 32

Butter—Butter prices have already advanced, buy now, price will be higher. Numaid or Golden Meadow, per lb 25c

A. G. Flour is giving splendid satisfaction.
49 lb sack for $1.20, 98 lb sack for $2.35

A. G. Sodas, wood box, fresh shipment just in, per box 45c

Ginger Snaps, another shipment just in, fresh and crisp, 2 lbs for 25c

Lemonade Powder, 25c

Raspberry Vinegar, per bottle 25c

Onions, B.C., new crop, 5 lbs for 25c

Fruit Punch, per bottle 35c

Ginger Ale, Canada Dry, 4 doz. for $1.15

B. C. Spuds, New, 25 lbs for 50c

Bring in your Palm Olive Soap Coupons.
You get one cake FREE.

P. G. Soap, 23 cakes for $1.00

Lea and Perrin's Sauce, per bottle 40c

Sliced Pineapple, Choice, per tin 25c

Princess Soap Flakes, 2 packages for 40c

Mint Sauce, Crosse and Blackwell's, bottle 30c

Aylmer Pork and Beans, 2 tins for 25c

New Jam—Strawberry and Gooseberry Mixed, you will like it. Purity brand, 4 lb tins, each 65c

Australian Raisins, 2 lbs for 35c

I. B. C. Graham Wafers, per pkg. 25c

Ribbon Tea, 45c

Dates—Ready to use, fresh stock, 2 lb pk. 25c

Peanut Butter, Glass Barrel, each 25c

Victoria Cross Tea, 2 lbs for 75c

1st Tea and Coffee, 1 lb of each for 85c

McLogg's Corn Flakes, per package 10c

Corn—K. B. Choice Quality, 3 tins for 50c

For a Quick Dinner try these, Hot Pot, Irish Stew and Lamb Fricassee, only requires heating and you will like them, 1 lb tins, each 20c

Personal and Local

Margaret and Jimmy Allen recently spent two weeks' holidays at Leslieville, near Rocky Mountain House.

Miss Margaret Price arrived from Edmonton on Aug. 6 to spend a holiday at her home here.

Mrs. J. Devine and children recently returned from a few weeks holiday at Lethbridge.

Miss Peggy Fairfull of Calgary was visiting friends in town during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Merini of Vancouver were recent visitors with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Celli.

Mrs. W. Hoggan and children have been spending several weeks with her parents at Arrow Lakes, B.C.

Mr. and Mrs. Fraser McLeod of Red Deer were visitors with relatives here last week.

R. Laskett recently left for Olds where he has opened in business, and Mrs. Laskett expects to leave in the near future.

Joy Ferguson, in the school examinations, passed from Grade 8 to 9 with honors, a fine record for this young student.

Mrs. Clifford and Hilda, Miss Edith Haysom and Mrs. Pattinson returned by car from Victoria on Saturday last, after several weeks' holiday.

Mrs. H. E. Gate is spending a month's holiday in Vancouver, having been ordered to the coast by her doctor.

The sympathy of many old friends is extended to Mr. John Kerr of St. Paul, in the death of his wife, which occurred on Monday.

J. A. McLeod, R. F. Barnes and Mr. and Mrs. Rhynas spent the week-end at Waterton Lakes, taking part in the annual golf tournament there.

Mrs. C. J. Devine and Peggy and Bobby are spending a holiday at Lee Lake, enjoying the delights of camping.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Antrobus and Freda are spending two weeks' holiday, having motored to Vancouver during their absence the shoe store is closed.

"Bud" Clarke and "Buck" Eyesacker spent a few days fishing at South Fork. Very few large fish are being caught this year. Some fishermen begin to think they have all been caught.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McDonald have returned to Coleman from Sloan district. It is also reported that Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rogers and children will return to take up work here.

The Misses Margaret and Ethel Dunlop returned on Tuesday from Edmonton, where they had attended summer school since the closing of the schools in Coleman.

A. E. Milley has opened a radio repair and supplies shop in the building formerly occupied by S. Milley's grocery, and will service all types of radio sets.

Copy for news and advertising should be in as early as possible on Tuesday of each week. The facilities publication on time, and would be appreciated by the publisher.

Mrs. Jack McDonald left late in July for several weeks visit at her old home in Glace Bay, Nova Scotia. Her mother has not been in very good health for some time, and she had not visited her since 1924.

Miss Jennie Heiblen celebrated the closing of the Todd Creek school which she has taught for the past two years, by giving a very successful picnic at the river home of Mrs. C. Latta.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Ford, their son Lawrence, and daughter, Mrs. Shields, returned on Sunday from a two weeks' motor trip to Vancouver, where they visited a number of former Coleman residents.

Postmaster Graham again calls attention to the ruling that no bills or notices except those authorized by the post office department are to be displayed in the building, also that they are not to be displayed on the outside. Notices placed there will be taken down and destroyed.

Mrs. G. R. Powell, after many weeks of severe illness, shows steady improvement. Her son Roy of Calgary and Mrs. Carson of Toronto have been with her during the past two months. The many friends of Mrs. Powell hope for her continued improvement.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Brocklehurst of Calgary, and Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Kirkham and son Robert, were visitors on Saturday last, the former with Mr. and Mrs. Howarth, and the latter with Mr. and Mrs. T. Holstead. They had made the triangle tour from Calgary to Golden, Windermere, and return via the Crows Nest Pass.

Mr. and Mrs. William Watson and son John, formerly of Coleman, now living in Calgary, were recent visitors here on returning from a motor trip to Vancouver. Mr. Watson was pit boss at the International mine when he left here in 1914, after seven years residence, and he now owns a mine at Big Valley, operated by Watson & Ross. Their son is in his second year at Alberta University. While here they were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Morrison and Mr. and Mrs. Emmerson.

Phone 232 Ed. Ledieu 232

The Big Corner Store

The confidence of the public is maintained by selling uniform quality goods at reasonable prices. A "cheap" pound of tea, or canned goods, or other food items may be dear at any price, no matter how cheap. We offer you a list of guaranteed quality specials weekly with our reputation for square dealing behind them. You buy from us, in confidence that you are getting rock bottom values.

SPECIALS Good only for Fri., Sat. and Mon. August 19, 20 and 22 SPECIALS

Rogers Syrup in 5 lb tins, each	40c	White Beans, 10 lbs for	35c
Pure Jam, Raspberry, 4 lb tin	53c	P. & G. Soap and Daisy Brooms, 10 bars of Soap and a Broom	75c
Pork & Beans, Clark's, 6 tins	49c	Broom alone cost this price.
Quaker Tomatoes, large size, Choice, 2 tins for	25c	Flit, destroys the Flies, 8 oz. tin	33c
Tea, try our special Bulk Tea, per lb 35c, 3 lbs for	$1.00	Brunswick Sardines, 6 tins for	29c
Pineapple, Sliced or Crushed, Australian, per tin	22c	Prunes, 3 lbs for	25c
Pig Bar Biscuits, 2 lbs for	35c	Special price by the Box.
		Catsup, best quality, Aylmer's, Large bottle	18c

See Our FRESH FRUIT COUNTER

Oranges, per dozen	33c	Cooking Apples, 5 lbs for	25c
Bananas, per lb	15c	Onions, 6 lbs for	23c
		Ripe Tomatoes, per basket	25c

Also Cucumbers, Pickling Onions, Plums, Peaches, etc., at Special Prices

Meat Specials—Saturday Only

Jersey Special Creamery Butter, 3 lbs for	65c	Monogram Ham, boneless and skinless, whole or half, per lb	16c
Pure Pork Sausage, 2 lbs for	25c	Pork Shoulder Roast, per lb	11c
Pot Roast Beef or Veal, per lb	10c	Pork Leg Roast, per lb	13c

SERVICE - QUALITY - LOW PRICE - FREE DELIVERY

BE READY! Men!

Take advantage of this special service.

It will pay you!

On
Wednesday, August 31st

a special Head Office representative of
TIP TOP TAILORS
LIMITED

Mr. W. D. LOWDEN

who will be in attendance at our store
Come in and meet him!

$24.<sup>50</sup>

He is here to advise all men on the choice of material and style for their Fall and Winter clothes. He will display the wonderful range of TIP TOP all-British woollens for Fall and Winter wear, and will personally measure all customers who place their orders during his visit.

TIP TOP suits and overcoats are made to your own 21 personal measurements, tailored with scrupulous care expressly for each customer, and are styled smartly. There is no finer value in the world!

TIP TOP TAILORS
CHAS. NICHOLAS
"The Family Clothier"